Gov. Bond welcomes industry

Gov. Christopher S. Bond was the key note speaker at dedication ceremonies Tuesday morning at a new clay processing plant northeast of Bloomfield. In his brief remarks (top picture) he thanked the company for locating in Stoddard County. He had a little difficulty breaking a bottle of champaign on the company's "Super Tube" -- a rotary kiln drier -- and had to try several times before he succeeded (bottom picture.) Apparently amused by Bond is Edward Lowe, owner of the company.

Carter close to first-round choice; GOP race still close

By DAVE GOLDBERG
Associated Press Writer

Jimmy Carter, at best an outsider when the primaries began, has capped his run from nowhere with a delegate harvest that puts him within a few quick moves of the Democratic presidential nomination.

For the Republicans, the end of the primaries means a continuation of Ronald Reagan's challenge to President Ford.

Carter won only in Ohio of the three big states that held primaries on Tuesday. But he picked up more than 200 delegates, and all his rivals but one seemed ready to concede him the nomination.

The one who said he won't quit chasing Carter is Jerry Brown, who won big in his home state of California and was joined with Hubert Humphrey as preferred candidates on an uncommitted delegate slate that won in New Jersey. "I will go forward," Brown said. "I think the nomination is still open."

Ford and Reagan, meanwhile, fought to a standoff that virtually guarantees a fight to the convention in Kansas City two months from now.

Reagan took the California primary and with it the 167 delegates that go to the winner there. But Ford won almost all of Ohio's 97 delegates and an uncommitted slate that swept New Jersey's 67 delegate spots is packed with the President's supporters.

Here is how the delegate count looks with the primaries over:

Carter, who picked up 218 delegates on Tuesday, now has 1,125 of the 1,505 needed for nomination. His closest pursuer is Rep. Morris K. Udall, who has 334.5. Brown, who won 200 in California, has 225 and a number in the uncommmitted bloc of over 400 delegates.

Ford has a lead over Reagan of 892-868, with 1,130 needed to be the nominee. But Ford's edge is actually greater since no more than a handful of the nominally uncommitted 67-member New Jersey delegation backs Reagan.

As the votes were counted Tuesday and even before, it was clear it would be a day for jumping on the Carter bandwagon.

Carter himself told supporters in Atlanta: "I think I'm going to be the nominee."

And at a news conference, he said he had spoken by telephone during the day with three active rivals, Udall, Frank Church and George Wallace; one inactive rival, Humphrey, and Mayor Richard J. Daley of Chicago, who controls a bloc of 86 delegates nominally committed to Sen. Adlai Stevenson, a favorite son.

"All of them, as a general group, agreed that I would be the nominee," Carter said.

And that was what just about all of them said, finally conceding defeat after a spring of seeing silver linings in cloudy results.

Udall, speaking to supporters in Cleveland after his ninth second-place finish, congratulated Carter on a "solid victory, and a brilliant campaign." He said Carter is now a heavy favorite for the nomination and said he wouldn't engage in a stop-Carter move. But he added that he would not release his delegates because they "cannot be delivered."

Church said of Carter: "He's coming very close to being able to claim the number of delegates necessary for a first-ballot victory." And he said of his telephone conversation with the former Georgia governor: "I told him I thought he had established an entitlement it would be difficult for the convention to deny."

Earlier in the day, it was Daley who indicated he was ready to jump on the bandwagon.

Daley said he was not making any endorsement just yet, but predicted that if Carter won Ohio, as he did, "he'll be the nominee." The mayor also said of what he called the religious tone of Carter's campaign: "that's something we need some of."

But Brown, who has won in Maryland, Nevada and California and been backed by parts of winning uncommitted slates in Rhode Island and New Jersey, wanted no part of that.

"Every state I have gone into, Jimmy Carter has lost," he said. "The 1,505 delegates are not accounted for. Today was a very strong boost for my candidacy."

On the Republican side, things went just about as expected. Reagan won easily in California, Ford with little trouble in Ohio and the delegate slate headed by Sen. Clifford P. Case captured all the New Jersey slots over a slate that Reagan did not sanction and which carried the label "former California governor."

Both the Reagan and Ford camps predicted their candidates would win on the first ballot, as one of them would almost surely have to do if no other candidates enter the field. And both sides said, as they have been saying, that their man would have a better chance of beating the Democratic nominee.

Reagan did not discuss the Ohio results. But his backers there said they were happy because he got over 40 per cent of the vote. And John Sears, who heads Citizens for Reagan, said "we're very pleased with the results from Ohio."

Ford had no direct comment on the primaries although he called supporters in New Jersey and Ohio to thank them. He told Keith McNamara, his Ohio chairman: "We've got a long, hard way to go, but we've got the right programs, the right

Charleston raises tax rate

CHARLESTON — A new tax levy for the coming year was set, telephone service problems were discussed with company personnel and bids on new equipment were accepted Tuesday night by the City Council.

An ordinance was adopted setting the tax rate for 1976 at $1.50 per $100 assessed valuation -- an increase of 10 cents over the present $1.40 rate.

Included in the ordinance was the establishment of a park maintenance fund which will receive 20 cents. One dollar will go to general revenue, and the remaining 30-cents will be divided into the water and sewer bond sinking and public improvement funds.

Problems with telephone service were discussed with Deloris Hurt of Sikeston, area manager for Southwestern Bell Telephone Co., and Herman Clark of Sikeston, area installation and maintenance supervisor.

The council was advised by Clark that the main problem with service was caused by water getting into the underground cables, installed in the area in 1968, during flooding in recent years.

He also cited problems with air conditioning at the Charleston plant,which has an adverse effect on the cables and personnel problems.

"We have dedicated ourselves to the water problem and other difficulties have accumulated," Clark said, adding that East Prairie customers are also having phone difficulties. He said six additional employes have been brought to the East Prairie area and four additional repairmen are working in Charleston.

Stressing that time and dollars are being spent to correct the problem, Clark assured the council the difficulties would be corrected.

Excessive speeding and semi-tractor trailer trucks are creating hazards on Vine Street between Lee and South Finney streets, according to Gary Pang, who appeared before the council with his complaint.

Stating that speeders are endangering small children and that truck drivers are using the area as a "training ground," Pang asked the council to consider installing speed bumps, erecting 15-mile per hour speed limit signs and restricting the street to a 10-ton truck limit after 5 p.m. and on weekends.

The matter was tabled and Police Chief Bob Ritchey was instructed to look into the problem.

A low bid of $3,345 was accepted, providing specification requirements are met, from Courtesy Ford of Charleston for a four- cylinder, standard transmission, pickup truck to be used for park maintenance. Ponder Chevrolet- Buick Co. of Charleston submitted a bid of $3,437.40 for a similar truck.

Bids from three implement companies on a backhoe with front end loader were tabled for further study.

The council approved a request by Chief Ritchey for the purchase of a radar gun for use in traffic control. The instrument, to be purchased from Ray Herron Co. of Danville, Ill., costs $850 and has a two-year warranty.

The gun will replace the old radar system which requires from two to three men to operate.

Law Enforcement Equipment Co. of Kansas City bid $1,018.50 for the same system.

The purchase of a used 112E motor grader from ERB Industrial of Cape Girardeau for $6,150 was also approved.

Bids will be taken for painting the city's water tank and for a street sweeper machine.

The council approved the transfer of $60,000 in time deposit certificates to the operating fund of the 1976-77 budget.

Councilman Terry Rowe gave a report from the recently formed industrial commission, which is still in the organizational stage. Rowe said committees have b een formed, the city's comprehensive plan is being updated and literature to be sent to industrial prospects is being prepared.

Councilman Duane Eastman reported he had received complaints from citizens about the pool hall on North Main Street being open on Sunday. Following discussion, City Attorney Jeffrey Vaughan was instructed to establish the legality of adopting an ordinance closing the establishment from midnight Saturday to 6 a.m. Monday.

A request from the Boy Scouts, voiced by Eastman, that they be allowed to paint fire hydrants downtown as a Bicentennial project, was approved, providing there is adult supervision and design approval.

Park Board recommendations listed by Councilman Lowell Nicholas have been or are being taken care of, according to City Manager Willis Downs. These include painting parking lines onthe swimming pool lot, patrolling of the area by police, prohibiting alcoholic beverages in the park, mowing and the erection of backstops for tennis courts.

A public hearing prior to the meeting brought no objections to the acquisition of the south half of the old Eugene Field School property for a park area, the establishment of a park on the 27 acres owned by the city at the south interchange or the construction of a new water well near the water plant on Moore Street.

Community development money will be used for these projects.

Mayor Wyman Beasley signed a proclamation requested by the Bicentennial Committee for citizen participation in activities from June 14 through July 4. Flags will be flown daily and church bells will peal at noon throughout the p eriod.

A citywide picnic is planned on the Fourth, ending in a

Bloomfield dedicates clay processing plant

BLOOMFIELD — Mayor Glen Ayers had a place of honor Tuesday at dedication ceremonies for a new clay processing plant north of town, along with Gov. Christopher Bond and other state officials.

It was the City of Bloomfield that approved a $2.6 million bond issue on Feb. 6, 1975 to provide funds for the project, but Ayers did not speak to the crowd gathered Tuesday for the ceremonies.

State Sen. Nelson Tinnin of Hornersville and State Rep. C.F. Cline of Sikeston made brief remarks, each welcoming Southern Clay, Inc., a subsidiary of Lowe's Inc. of Cassopolis, Mich. to Stoddard County.

Bond was the keynote speaker, but he too kept his remarks brief.

"Primarily, we are here to express our gratitude to Lowe's for bringing economic development and opportunity to the people of this area," he said, echoing the sentiments of the local officials.

He said the area has a good supply of clay and the state highway department and Bootheel Regional Commission cooperated with the company in the project.

Bond was to formally dedicate the plant by breaking a bottle of champaign on a "Super Tube"-- the company's name for a rotary kiln drier to produce granulated clay for kitty litter and other products.

Bond took the bottle, and as pre-recorded music reached a crescendo, struck the Super Tube.

And struck it again. And again.

The tube was tough.

The music kept playing and Bond unwrapped the cloth from around the neck of the bottle and tried several more times.

Finally, the bottle broke, champaign ran down the side of the Super Tube, which was now turning slowly, and the crowd broke out in applause.

On the platform where the officials were sitting, a young woman poured champaign for each of the officials.

According to information distributed by a Lowe's official, the company was founded in 1954 and the company's first mine and processing plant was purchased in Olmsted, Ill.

School board sells house built by class

The Sikeston R-6 Board of Education Tuesday sold a house built by the Vocational Trades Class and heard reports on school attendance and school lunch programs.

Ray Leonard of 1013 Davis Blvd. bought the house with a high bid of $43,750. The house, located on Willow Lane, was appraised at $49,800.

In addition to Leonard, there were 10 other bids, including James Aduddell, $41,286; Danny Allen, $33,150; I. A. Poe, $32,500; F. L. Catlitt, $37,500; Vaughn Baker, $32,502; Charles Williams, $39,750; Patrick Doyer, $43,600; Thomas Schoemehl, $38,126; Bill Marsh, $39,109 and Billy Schoch, whose bid was apparently misprinted, $4,035.

A bid for a house owned by the school system on South Ingram Street was tabled. Sonny Johnson proposed that either he be given the house and would move it and clean up the debris or that he would pay $300 for the house, move it and let the school system clean up the debris. Johnson's proposals were the only ones offered to the district.

Statistics given to the board by administrative assistant Tony Statler on school enrollment show a steady increase in school population with indications that students are staying in school longer.

In 1951-52 there were 2,702 students, but in 1975-76 there were 4,880. The peak year was 1970-71 when there were 4,944 students in the district. Student population dropped slightly after that as construction work on Noranda Aluminum at Marston neared its end.

Dorothy Lawrence of the food service, told the board there were about 2,400 Type A lunches served each day during the school year.

A Type A lunch meets federal requirements of the National School Lunch Program and includes meat or meat substitute, vegetable and fruits, bread, butter and milk.

A Type A lunch costs 85 cents to prepare and sells for 45 cents. The remaining 40 cents is made up by federal reimbursement.

A total of 3,500 lunches are served each day if adultsandala cart meals are counted, Mrs. Lawrence said.

Gerald Jackson of the vocational department told the board that eight area schools will participate in vocational programs next year.

He said the state will hold a conference July 8 in Sikeston for industries with 100 employes or more to inform them of the services vocational schools can perform for them.

Church said the city has begun a new policy of requiring psychological evaluation of all new police officers before they are hired. Mascia is the first new officer to undergo the evaluation.

Church said Mascia scored highly in both the psychological exam and the placement tests given to all job applicants.

Park Board recommendations listed by Councilman Lowell Nicholas have been or are being taken care of, according to City Manager Willis Downs. These include painting parking lines onthe swimming pool lot, patrolling of the area by police, prohibiting alcoholic beverages in the park, mowing and the erection of backstops for tennis courts.

A public hearing prior to the meeting brought no objections to the acquisition of the south half of the old Eugene Field School property for a park area, the establishment of a park on the 27 acres owned by the city at the south interchange or the construction of a new water well near the water plant on Moore Street.

Police radio ripped off

Thieves took two citizen band radios from cars and a police radio from the police department radio shack under the water tower on Center Street.

Jim Cates, 502 W. Gladys St., reported the theft of a CB from his car sometime this morning while it was parked by the Wagon Wheel Tavern, 841 W. Malone Ave. The radio was valued at $150.

Virgil Newberry of South Haven, Mich., told police that a CB worth $179, a tape player worth $89 and a watch worth $50 were taken from his car between 2 a.m. and 7:40 a.m. Tuesday while the car was parked at the El Capri Motel on North Main Street.

Burglars pried open the door to the police department radio shack under the water tower on Center Street and took a radio set to the highway patrol car-to-car and troop-to- car frequency. No value was given.

Cline to attend conference

State Rep. C. F. Cline of Sikeston will attend the June session of the Governor's Conference on Education when it meets at Jefferson City on Friday.

Cline is vice chairman of the House Committee on Education and has been invited to participate in the Governor's Conference to bring legislative input to the meeting.

Active in education legislation, Cline will be meeting with the Educational Finance Committee to work on new methods of finding solutions to the problems facing the funding of the public schools in Missouri.

New policeman hired

Henry Mascia has been appointed to the Sikeston Police Department as a patrolman, effective Thursday, according to City Manager Charles Church.

Mascia, 35, has three years experience with the Fayetteville, N.C., police department. He resigned in May to move to Southeast Missouri where his wife's family lives, Church said.

Church said the city has begun a new policy of requiring psychological evaluation of all new police officers before they are hired. Mascia is the first new officer to undergo the evaluation.

Church said Mascia scored highly in both the psychological exam and the placement tests given to all job applicants.

WANTED: EQUAL TRADE TREATMENT

U.S. Secretary of Agriculture Earl L. Butz earlier this month (May) returned from a 10-nation visit with this message: "We want to trade. We need to trade. The world needs us and our food product. We need the things produced by other parts of the world."

At the same time, said Butz at the end of his 20-day globe hop, there is an urgent need to liberalize world trade and to ensure that the U.S. receives fair treatment for its exports. This, unfortunately, is not always the case.

"In Geneva," said Butz upon his return, "we met with heads of delegations from about 70 countries represented at the multilateral trade negotiations. We talked with them about the need to eliminate nontariff trade barriers. The question is fundamental -- whether agricultural products are to be traded in a world where the rules are different for them than they are for other products."

Butz was on target in his assertion that relatively few Americans fully appreciate what is at stake as the U.S. seeks freer trade for its ace in the hole -- agricultural products.

"We export the production from more than one harvested acre out of four," he explained. "Without a growing export market for that production, farm income will suffer. If farm income declines, our agricultural plant is weakened in its ability to invest in mechanization, to maintain fertility and conservation of resources, and to produce abundantly." translated, that means the price of groceries is linked inextricably to a healthy agricultural export situation.

Also of major importance is the fact that the biggest contributor to the nation's favorable balance of trade today is agricultural exports. The U.S. has a net plus of $12 billion in farm exports over farm imports.

"We in the United States are already the freest market in the world to imports of farm products," said Butz. "If we trade our few remaining restrictions against the heavy restrictions elsewhere in the world, American farmers will be left facing still-higher barriers around the world.

"If industry and agriculture are negotiated separately, U.S. farmers will be sold down the river, as they were in the earlier 'Kennedy Round' trade discussions a few years back. We must negotiate agriculture and industry together, and trade off concessions in the industrial area for agricultural concessions from other nations."

Clearly, it is in the best interest of this country -- along with that of many others -- to have freer trade. But free trade must be a two-way street.

IMPOSSIBLE DREAMS

If everyone were practical all of the time, many great things that have been done would never have been tried. Would Charles Lindbergh even have attempted his solo trip across the Atlantic in The Spirit of St. Louis if he hadn't believed in something that the average person at the time would have said was impossible? But Lindbergh landed in Paris, and the world was never the same again. Americans, inspired by that historic flight, were asked just 14 years later to man the greatest air armada the world had ever seen, the U.S. Air Force of World War II. The "impossible" age of the atom and space came next in fast succession, and the world moves on.

Progress now often seems to be carried forward by teams of people. But somewhere at the heart of things, there is always an individual who can believe in impossible things, and then, usually with a lot of hard work, dedication and skill, make them happen. It is this kind of individual who, in the final analysis, still moves the world forward.

ARE GOVERNMENT CONTROLS RUNNING OUT OF CONTROL?

Everyone loses when regulation becomes unreasonable. Estimates of the cost of regulation to the American public range from a low of $60 billion to the $130 billion estimate of the Office of Management and Budget. Here are cases compiled by the National Association of Manufacturers that bear this out.

$66 PER PERSON

"Precise estimates of the total costs of regulation are not available, but existing evidence suggests that this may range up to 1 per cent of the Gross National Product, or approximately $66 per person per year."

Allan Brownfeld, Manchester Union Leader, April 25, 1975, "The High Cost of Regulation."

HIGH COST OF ICC

"Restrictive rate policies of the Interstate Commerce Commission add $5 billion per year in excess freight rates, according to a recent economic study. Although paid by shippers, the ultimate costs are passed on to consumers."

Representative William L. Armstrong, (R. CO-5), Congressional Record, February 20, 1975.

PAPERWORK NIGHTMARE

"Each year, small businesses spend some $18 billion on paper work alone. This includes, among other things, unemployment forms, health forms, accident forms, quarterly Social Security forms, withholding forms, and retirement forms.

"A simple family store that grosses less than $30,000 a year must fill out, on the average, 52 tax forms a year. Small wonder that your corner neighborhood grocery store is part of a vanishing breed.

"While many small business owners simply throw up their hands in disgust, it is a matter of record that a considerable number of small businesses are indeed driven to bankruptcy by the time and money they must spend in filling out forms of various kinds."

Nashville Banner (Tenn.), Editorial, "The Paperwork Pile of Small Businessmen."

CONSUMER PAYS

"The consumer is paying for the new managerial revolution in a number of ways. One is his tax bill. It costs him $4 billion a year to support all the federal regulatory agencies that ride herd on business."

Prof. Murray L. Weidenbaum, Nation's Business, June 1975, "Where Over-regulation Can Lead."

MISSED OPPORTUNITY

"In the field of nuclear energy, the story is...a sad one. This country was a pioneer in the development of nuclear power. Yet today it can take up to 11 years to build a nuclear power plant in the United States and only 4 to 4½ years in Europe and Japan. Nuclear energy provides less than 2 per cent of our current energy consumption—far below its potential. Why? Because of excessive government regulation which impedes the construction of more nuclear plants.

"Or consider the case of coal. This nation has about a third of all the recoverable coal reserves in the world. We are the largest exporter of coal in the world, and at 1973 levels of consumption we have enough coal to burn for 800 years. Yet, because of excessive governmental intervention, coal production in the United States today is lower than it was thirty years ago."

Secretary of the Treasury, William E. Simon, July 14, 1975.

COSTLY NATIONALIZATION

"Canada has two railroads, one privately owned, the other government owned. In 1973 the private carrier made $32.6 million after taxes. The government-operated carrier lost $46.7 million. In 1971, government railroading lost $219 million in Britain, $111 million in The Netherlands, $1.595 billion in Germany, $1.184 billion in France and $1.133 billion in Japan, excluding direct subsidies. It has taken about 200 years for the Postal Service to achieve a $2 billion annual deficit, but it has been estimated that a government-run rail system in the U.S. could achieve that in the first year of operation.

"Under government ownership the railroads become a 'make work' pork barrel. For example, the U.S. railroads with all the inefficiencies have 2.7 rail employes for each mile of track, but in other countries where government operates the railroads, the number of employes required for each mile of track is considerably greater: 20.7 Englishmen, 12.9 Frenchmen, 22.1 Germans and 19 Italians in every instance nationalization has created a bottomless pit into which the taxpayers pour an endless stream of money."

W.L. Thornton, president, Florida East Coast Railway Co., "An Open Letter To Congress," May, 1975.

"Oh, Daddy!" gushed the girl. "You've even had it stocked for me!"

XXX

PAPERWORK PILES UP

Individuals and business firms spend over 130 million work-hours a year filling out over 5,000 government forms. In addition, the Commission on Federal Paperwork estimates that federal spending to process forms totals about $15 billion a year.

The cost for the forms themselves runs to a billion dollars annually, and the Department of Agriculture alone maintains nearly a million cubic feet of records and spends $150 million yearly on reporting systems.

"MEDICINE SHOW" TACTICS

Those old panaceas for curing economic troubles--government pump priming and a show of reducing taxes for "the little fellow"--belong to the old-time "medicine show." As taxpayers, voters and citizens, the people of this country should now realize that pump priming--i.e vast government deficit spending--merely invites inflation and more trouble. Highly-publicized tax cuts sound big in the aggregate. But they are infinitesimal when spread among millions of taxpayers. Medicine show tax policy has led the nation into the present deadly trap of escalating prices, unemployment and a cycle of inflation.

It is now becoming more widely recognized that government spending must be controlled and tax policies must be directed toward encouraging producers and investors to put their efforts and investment dollars into the development and expansion of industries that provide the tax revenues and the employment needed to support government and a decent living standard for all. One of those who has expressed the deepest concern about the trend toward the attrition of capital resources is Mr. Robert B. Anderson, former Secretary of the Treasury. He notes that it takes $25,000 of someone's money to create a single job in industry today and warns that, "Unwise tax policies that discourage savings and dampen the psychological climate for investment have an adverse effect on our total national well-being....Of particular importance...is the impact of the federal tax on profits earned on the sale of an investment--the capital gains tax." This tax now stands at the crippling level of some 35 per cent. Mr. Anderson calls for a reduction to 25 percent which was the rate in effect prior to 1969. He believes it may be "...necessary to make additional reductions in the capital gains tax rate to further stimulate capital formation so vitally needed."

Genuine tax reform should start with a hard look and corrective action to modify the taxes that are now crippling job and investment opportunities and U.S. productivity.

CAPITALIZING ON A SOCIALIST FAILURE

The FBI could have saved itself, and taxpayers, all the money and effort it has allegedly expended through the years in spying on the Socialist Labor Party. The best way to save the country from the threat of socialism is to publicize the programs of the socialists.

Capitalism, says Socialist Labor Party presidential candidate Julius Levin, "is the basic cause of all our social ills" and should be placed in the ash-bin of history alongside slavery and feudalism.

"It is a sick, crime-ridden, fiscally bankrupt, politically corrupt social system. It cannot provide security and a decent quality of life for the overhwleming majority of the population."

Social problems will not be solved, says Levin, until capitalism is replaced by the system advocated by the SLP—control of industry and government in the hands of the working class and production to satisfy "human needs," not for the sake of profits.

Unfortunately for this candidate's hopes to—pardon the expression—capitalize on the economic and other complaints of Americans, neither he nor any socialist has ever been able to point to any country or any system that has not done infintely worse.

Indeed, the one major democracy that has ventured farthest along the road to rule by the working class, and closest to national bankruptcy, is now turning back to capitalism.

It may be that things have gone down so far in Britain that they had nowhere to go but up, but latest report is that the country's long-term economic decline has finally bottomed out and is beginning to reverse itself.

Not least among the factors credited for the turnaround is a slash in once-sacrosanct government spending on social programs in order to commit a greater share of national resources to industry and the private sector.

In other words, to generate these nasty profits without which, candidate Levin to the contrary, no country can long afford to pay for its "human needs."

Inside Labor

By Victor Riesel

First In Peacetime:

U.S. reveling in record prosperity despite predictions by Gloom and Doom cult

WASHINGTON— What price gloom and doom? Depression!

What price Pollyanna-ism? Prosperity!

Yet there is a professional cult which molds each government statistic on employment and joblessness into a political club. Typical is its reaction to the latest employment figures. Teenage employment is up. Black employment is up. In the past three years the nation's total civilian work force has increased by three million, with employment of women in the lead. And that's not sexism. Nor are the country's minorities and youth suffering.

Yet the gloom and doomers continue to bad-mouth the nation.

Regretfully there's no way to romanticize a statistic. Can't wrap it in Liz Ray. So few observers realize that there are almost 88 millioin people (87.7) gainfully employed at the highest wage-fringe and benefit rates since King Solomon gave his gold miners a bonus.

Further, there are now 94.557 million Americans in the work force. So allegedly there are almost seven million unemployed.

Certainly those jobless are not merely statistics. And certainly the government people wrap it all in scholarly verbiage such as "mean duration." But not since 10 million American fighting men were hammering the Nazi Axis into bloody dust have American workers been unemployed for so short an average stretch.

For example, the median duration of unemployment of male and famale heads of households of all races, colors and creeds is 15 weeks. This is down from 15.7 weeks not too long ago. Much of this is covered by unemployment insurance, or Supplemental Unemployment Benefits (SUB) and extra-special training funds totaling scores of millions of dollars.

Point is that the labor force keeps spurting ahead each year. Thus though industrial America has the greatest percentage of free working people as well as the greatest number, it's almost impossible to keep up with the swift demands for new jobs.

The semi-socialist governments of Britain and Germany can't do it. Nor can the military totalitarianism of the Soviet Union.

There just isn't such an economic phenomenon as constant "full employment". That's podium palaver. This nation is about a close to being fully at work as any country can get.

It should be noted that "jobless" statistics are affected by strikes. Strikers, be they official, such as the 70,000 rubber workers who walked out April 21; or worm diggers who've just settled their disputes, or wildcatters such as the coaldiggers, are counted as unemployed.

All of which feeds the depression cult's spree.

It forgets, for example, that almost 200,000 laid-off autoworkers have been recalled since the oil boycott crisis. And that more autos are being sold than in many a year. And the total auto longtime jobless is now down to 30,000.

What the depression gloomers-and-doomers don't appear to realize is that they're grinding down their own people. America's prosperity today springs from a sober work force's fantastic productivity.

There's been a sudden realization that there's just no more fat -- no more excess money around. And that if you don't produce, if you don't deliver, there aren't any buyers. Or jobs.

Just look at the building and construction trades unionists. There are now only 50 strikes compared with 108 last year in the field.

The crafts shot building expenses up with their featherbedding, their strange work rules and their bitter jurisdictional disputes. Union workers' joblessness flared. Non-union (open shop) employment is spreading. Construction contractors and purchasers simply grew weary of the perpetual bickering and work stoppages. And in some instances, the violence.

Of course, this hasn't prevented the plumbers and steamfitters local from crippling the billion dollars worth of construction on the 100-square-mile Hanford atomic reservation. There has been picketing in the Richland, Wash., area for a month by the Hanford Atomic Metal Trades Council. Thus all this goes into the next statistic on joblessness.

Not a single word here insinuates any lack of deep-hearted empathy for the workless. I know what it means to go hungry, to peddle newspapers and shine shoes. I still come across youngsters, black and white, standing at their shoeshine boxes.

But just because Jerry Ford sees a rose garden in his future because everything is coming up roses economically, there isn't any reason to bad-mouth the nation.

So be a sport. Take a statistic out to lunch. Study it. America is vibrant with prosperity. Especially in those industries with a rebirth of productivity.

Why bad-mouth this nation? There are enough abroad who do it.

P.S. TO THE NEWS

STEALING THE BICENTENNIAL
By PHYLLIS SCHLAFLY
Copley News Service

Almost anyone could have predicted that some unscrupulous peddlers would try to make a fast buck by packaging shoddy merchandise in red-white-and-blue Bicentennial wrappings. What is surprising, however, is the magnitude of the attempt to deceive the public by masquerading under the Bicentennial label, and that those deceived are the better-educated citizens who don't usually buy a gold brick from a slick-talking stranger.

The details are all spelled out in a recent report by the Senate subcommittee on Internal Security about an unofficial organization called the Peoples Bicentennial Commission.

Contrary to its public image as a patriotic educational organization, Peoples Bicentennial Commission is actually "a propaganda and organizing tool of a small group of New Left political extremists whose political heroes include such Marxist luminaries as Fidel Castro, Mao Tse-tung, (and) Che Guevara."

The Peoples Bicentennial Commission has had significant success in the high schools by appealing to student grievances, real or imagined, in order to try to revive the radical student movement of the 1960s.

The PBC materials suggest that ours is an oppressive "Tory society" and that it is the students' duty to overthrow their oppressors.

With such unacceptable goals and tactics, how could the Peoples Bicentennial Commission succeed in getting any of its materials used by thousands of schools and preachers, by 924 radio stations, and by 102 television stations? Because the Peoples Bicentennial Commission did such a good job of packaging its product in patriotic colors.

The Peoples Bicentennial Commission camouflaged its propaganda materials with complimentary references to the Founding Fathers, with quotations from Thomas Jefferson, John Adams and Tom Paine, with artful paraphrasing of the Declaration of Independence, and with a clever use of authentic drawings and engravings from the Colonial era.

One of the Peoples Bicentennial Commission's major projects was to mail cassette recordings and cover letters to 8,000 wives of business executives telling them to cross-examine their husbands about alleged "criminal activity." These cassettes were obviously designed to sow seeds of family discord and to persuade wives that they have a "special responsibility" to argue with their husbands and to inform against them.

The Peoples Bicentennial Commission followed up this troublemaking mailing by sending personal letters to 10,000 secretaries to business executives and to 13,000 journalists offering a cash reward of $25,000 for "information that leads directly to the arrest, prosecution, conviction and imprisonment of a chief executive officer of one of America's Fortune 500 corporations for criminal activity relating to corporate operations."

The New York Times called this a "sophomoric prank." The Senate report proves, however, that this was not just a schoolboy prank, but part of a calculated attack to destroy or weaken our private enterprise system.

The Senate report called this "the attempt to steal the Bicentennial." We can thank the Senate investigators for catching the burglars in the act.

Washington Merry-Go-Round

By Jack Anderson

JACK ANDERSON SAYS:
The Great Phone Hang-Up

WASHINGTON— An epic battle over telephone equipment is raging in the backrooms of Congress. The brouhaha has brought the telephone industry's top brass, led by American Telephone and Telegraph chairman John deButts, to Capitol Hill for some stormy meetings.

At stake is the right of householders to buy their own telephone equipment instead of paying the phone companies. The Federal Communications Commission contends that the freedom to purchase would offer telephone users a better deal. But the companies warn that they would have to raise rates to make up for the revenue loss.

The arguments are complicated, with legal and engineering entanglements. But it all boils down to the question of whether a telephone monopoly or increased competition will provide the customers with better service.

Senators who have been caught up in the controversy say it should be one of the most important debates in congressional history. Here are the behind-the-scenes details:

The FCC has issued a series of complex rulings, which has had the effect of eroding the companies' natural monopoly. The Bell System quietly looked around for someone to sponsor legislation that would nullify the FCC rulings.

Bell bigwigs sounded out Senate Commerce Chairman Warren Magnuson, D.-Wash., and Senate Communications chairman John Pastore, D.-R.I. These two key senators finally consented to meet several of the telephone industry's most high-powered executives, with deButts in command.

Pastore can be as feisty as one of his state's red roosters. In sizzling language, he told the telephone executives that he didn't want their legislation in his subcommittee. It was "the wrong time and the wrong place," he snapped.

Undeterred, the deButts group finally persuaded amiable Sen. Vance Hartke, D.-Ind., to sponsor the telephone bill. On the House side, Rep. Teno Roncalio, D.-Wyo., agreed to introduce it.

Once the bill was in the legislative works, the Bell System began a massive lobbying campaign. For the first time in its history, AT&T asked all three million of its stockholders to write their congressmen, urging them to vote for the legislation.

Phone company executives were also summoned in from all corners of the country to pay personal calls on their senators and congressmen.

We spoke to several AT&T executives who argued that their customers will lose if competition is forced on the industry. They said the Bell System loses money on every private home phone line but subsidizes the home service by offering specialized equipment. If competitors are permitted to sell this equipment, said the phone men, then the rates will go up.

But the FCC claims competition can only improve the telephone system, citing a New York State study which shows the phone companies would not lose money from competition.

SHELTON'S NEW HOME: Turner Shelton, the discredited former Ambassador to Nicaragua, has finally found a home.

It's a luxurious old villa, complete with gardens and a swimming pool, in romantic Casablanca. The villa is the official residence of the U.S. consul general, a post Shelton will assume next month over loud congressional objections.

He has always seemed to pay more attention to the residence he will occupy than to the post he will fill. Indeed, State Department sources say his requests for assignments are based upon the housing that goes with them.

In Nicaragua, Shelton lived in an enormous mansion, which sat high on a hilltop overlooking the capital city of Managua. The State Department regarded the place, with its huge verandas and 20 sunrooms, as a mausoleum.

The State Department wanted to get rid of it, but it appealed to Shelton. He demanded that it be fixed up, however, before he moved in. So he holed up in a Managua hotel while workmen glassed in the verandas, sealed the windows and air-conditioned the building.

Shelton was called home from Nicaragua after we wrote a series of columns, reporting on his incompetence. He immediately tried to wangle a new appointment as Ambassador to the Bahamas. The ambassadorial residence, it turned out, is one of the most beautiful estates in the country, situated on many rolling acres overlooking the sea.

But both the Senate and the Bahamanian government put the kibosh on this appointment. Shelton next tried to wangle an appointment as consul general to Bermuda. The residence he would have occupied is a virtual island palace, complete with enormous guest quarters. But again the appointment was blocked.

Now it looks as if Shelton is going to make it to Casablanca. But first, he visited the State Department's Office of Foreign Buldings, where top officials spread out photographs and floor plans of the villa he would inherit.

Footnote: Shelton denied to us that he selects his posts because of the accommodations. His review of the photographs at the Foreign Building office, he said, was merely a "routine meeting."

IMPOSSIBLE DREAMS

If everyone were practical all of the time, many great things that have been done would never have been tried. Would Charles Lindbergh even have attempted his solo trip across the Atlantic in The Spirit of St. Louis if he hadn't believed in something that the average person at the time would have said was impossible? But Lindbergh landed in Paris, and the world was never the same again. Americans, inspired by that historic flight, were asked just 14 years later to man the greatest air armada the world had ever seen, the U.S. Air Force of World War II. The "impossible" age of the atom and space came next in fast succession, and the world moves on.

Progress now often seems to be carried forward by teams of people. But somewhere at the heart of things, there is always an individual who can believe in impossible things, and then, usually with a lot of hard work, dedication and skill, make them happen. It is this kind of individual who, in the final analysis, still moves the world forward.

ARE GOVERNMENT CONTROLS RUNNING OUT OF CONTROL?

Everyone loses when regulation becomes unreasonable. Estimates of the cost of regulation to the American public range from a low of $60 billion to the $130 billion estimate of the Office of Management and Budget. Here are cases compiled by the National Association of Manufacturers that bear this out.

$66 PER PERSON

"Precise estimates of the total costs of regulation are not available, but existing evidence suggests that this may range up to 1 per cent of the Gross National Product, or approximately $66 per person per year."

Allan Brownfeld, Manchester Union Leader, April 25, 1975, "The High Cost of Regulation."

HIGH COST OF ICC

"Restrictive rate policies of the Interstate Commerce Commission add $5 billion per year in excess freight rates, according to a recent economic study. Although paid by shippers, the ultimate costs are passed on to consumers."

Representative William L. Armstrong, (R. CO-5), Congressional Record, February 20, 1975.

PAPERWORK NIGHTMARE

"Each year, small businesses spend some $18 billion on paper work alone. This includes, among other things, unemployment forms, health forms, accident forms, quarterly Social Security forms, withholding forms, and retirement forms.

"A simple family store that grosses less than $30,000 a year must fill out, on the average, 52 tax forms a year. Small wonder that your corner neighborhood grocery store is part of a vanishing breed.

"While many small business owners simply throw up their hands in disgust, it is a matter of record that a considerable number of small businesses are indeed driven to bankruptcy by the time and money they must spend in filling out forms of various kinds."

Nashville Banner (Tenn.), Editorial, "The Paperwork Pile of Small Businessmen."

CONSUMER PAYS

"The consumer is paying for the new managerial revolution in a number of ways. One is his tax bill. It costs him $4 billion a year to support all the federal regulatory agencies that ride herd on business."

Prof. Murray L. Weidenbaum, Nation's Business, June 1975, "Where Over-regulation Can Lead."

MISSED OPPORTUNITY

"In the field of nuclear energy, the story is...a sad one. This country was a pioneer in the development of nuclear power. Yet today it can take up to 11 years to build a nuclear power plant in the United States and only 4 to 4½ years in Europe and Japan. Nuclear energy provides less than 2 per cent of our current energy consumption—far below its potential. Why? Because of excessive government regulation which impedes the construction of more nuclear plants.

"Or consider the case of coal. This nation has about a third of all the recoverable coal reserves in the world. We are the largest exporter of coal in the world, and at 1973 levels of consumption we have enough coal to burn for 800 years. Yet, because of excessive governmental intervention, coal production in the United States today is lower than it was thirty years ago."

Secretary of the Treasury, William E. Simon, July 14, 1975.

COSTLY NATIONALIZATION

"Canada has two railroads, one privately owned, the other government owned. In 1973 the private carrier made $32.6 million after taxes. The government-operated carrier lost $46.7 million. In 1971, government railroading lost $219 million in Britain, $111 million in The Netherlands, $1.595 billion in Germany, $1.184 billion in France and $1.133 billion in Japan, excluding direct subsidies. It has taken about 200 years for the Postal Service to achieve a $2 billion annual deficit, but it has been estimated that a government-run rail system in the U.S. could achieve that in the first year of operation.

"Under government ownership the railroads become a 'make work' pork barrel. For example, the U.S. railroads with all the inefficiencies have 2.7 rail employes for each mile of track, but in other countries where government operates the railroads, the number of employes required for each mile of track is considerably greater: 20.7 Englishmen, 12.9 Frenchmen, 22.1 Germans and 19 Italians in every instance nationalization has created a bottomless pit into which the taxpayers pour an endless stream of money."

W.L. Thornton, president, Florida East Coast Railway Co., "An Open Letter To Congress," May, 1975.

His daughter had recently graduated from college and the Texas tycoon was showing her through the private lodge he had had built for her on the family's hunting and fishing ranch as a surprise gift. As they went out onto the patio, several muscular naked young men plunged into the swimming pool.

"Oh, Daddy!" gushed the girl. "You've even had it stocked for me!"

XXX

PAPERWORK PILES UP

Individuals and business firms spend over 130 million work-hours a year filling out over 5,000 government forms. In addition, the Commission on Federal Paperwork estimates that federal spending to process forms totals about $15 billion a year.

The cost for the forms themselves runs to a billion dollars annually, and the Department of Agriculture alone maintains nearly a million cubic feet of records and spends $150 million yearly on reporting systems.

Doctor Kleingarten was examining a new patient at the hospital's check up clinic. "Why do you have A-68372 tattooed on your back?" he asked him.

"That's not a tatoo. That's where my wife ran into me while I was opening the garage door."

"MEDICINE SHOW" TACTICS

Those old panaceas for curing economic troubles--government pump priming and a show of reducing taxes for "the little fellow"--belong to the old-time "medicine show." As taxpayers, voters and citizens, the people of this country should now realize that pump priming--i.e vast government deficit spending--merely invites inflation and more trouble. Highly-publicized tax cuts sound big in the aggregate. But they are infinitesimal when spread among millions of taxpayers. Medicine show tax policy has led the nation into the present deadly trap of escalating prices, unemployment and a cycle of inflation.

It is now becoming more widely recognized that government spending must be controlled and tax policies must be directed toward encouraging producers and investors to put their efforts and investment dollars into the development and expansion of industries that provide the tax revenues and the employment needed to support government and a decent living standard for all. One of those who has expressed the deepest concern about the trend toward the attrition of capital resources is Mr. Robert B. Anderson, former Secretary of the Treasury. He notes that it takes $25,000 of someone's money to create a single job in industry today and warns that, "Unwise tax policies that discourage savings and dampen the psychological climate for investment have an adverse effect on our total national well-being....Of particular importance...is the impact of the federal tax on profits earned on the sale of an investment--the capital gains tax." This tax now stands at the crippling level of some 35 per cent. Mr. Anderson calls for a reduction to 25 percent which was the rate in effect prior to 1969. He believes it may be "...necessary to make additional reductions in the capital gains tax rate to further stimulate capital formation so vitally needed."

Genuine tax reform should start with a hard look and corrective action to modify the taxes that are now crippling job and investment opportunities and U.S. productivity.

XXX

CAPITALIZING ON A SOCIALIST FAILURE

The FBI could have saved itself, and taxpayers, all the money and effort it has allegedly expended through the years in spying on the Socialist Labor Party. The best way to save the country from the threat of socialism is to publicize the programs of the socialists.

Capitalism, says Socialist Labor Party presidential candidate Julius Levin, "is the basic cause of all our social ills" and should be placed in the ash-bin of history alongside slavery and feudalism.

"It is a sick, crime-ridden, fiscally bankrupt, politically corrupt social system. It cannot provide security and a decent quality of life for the overhwleming majority of the population."

Social problems will not be solved, says Levin, until capitalism is replaced by the system advocated by the SLP—control of industry and government in the hands of the working class and production to satisfy "human needs," not for the sake of profits.

Unfortunately for this candidate's hopes to—pardon the expression—capitalize on the economic and other complaints of Americans, neither he nor any socialist has ever been able to point to any country or any system that has not done infintely worse.

Indeed, the one major democracy that has ventured farthest along the road to rule by the working class, and closest to national bankruptcy, is now turning back to capitalism.

It may be that things have gone down so far in Britain that they had nowhere to go but up, but latest report is that the country's long-term economic decline has finally bottomed out and is beginning to reverse itself.

Not least among the factors credited for the turnaround is a slash in once-sacrosanct government spending on social programs in order to commit a greater share of national resources to industry and the private sector.

In other words, to generate these nasty profits without which, candidate Levin to the contrary, no country can long afford to pay for its "human needs."

"Do what you do with me, Edith. Tell him about your headaches."

During World War Two, a GI and his English girl were strolling down the local lovers' lane. As they walked hand in hand, the soldier pulled an orange out of his pocket and offered it to her. "Darling, I really can't accept it," protested the girl. "Oranges are so scarce in England right now - that they're reserved for small children and pregnant women."

"That's OK, honey," said the GI. "You can take it now, and then eat it on the way back."

Inside Labor

By Victor Riesel

First In Peacetime:

U.S. reveling in record prosperity despite predictions by Gloom and Doom cult

WASHINGTON— What price gloom and doom? Depression!

What price Pollyanna-ism? Prosperity!

Yet there is a professional cult which molds each government statistic on employment and joblessness into a political club. Typical is its reaction to the latest employment figures. Teenage employment is up. Black employment is up. In the past three years the nation's total civilian work force has increased by three million, with employment of women in the lead. And that's not sexism. Nor are the country's minorities and youth suffering.

Yet the gloom and doomers continue to bad-mouth the nation.

Regretfully there's no way to romanticize a statistic. Can't wrap it in Liz Ray. So few observers realize that there are almost 88 millioin people (87.7) gainfully employed at the highest wage-fringe and benefit rates since King Solomon gave his gold miners a bonus.

Further, there are now 94.557 million Americans in the work force. So allegedly there are almost seven million unemployed.

Certainly those jobless are not merely statistics. And certainly the government people wrap it all in scholarly verbiage such as "mean duration." But not since 10 million American fighting men were hammering the Nazi Axis into bloody dust have American workers been unemployed for so short an average stretch.

For example, the median duration of unemployment of male and famale heads of households of all races, colors and creeds is 15 weeks. This is down from 15.7 weeks not too long ago. Much of this is covered by unemployment insurance, or Supplemental Unemployment Benefits (SUB) and extra-special training funds totaling scores of millions of dollars.

Point is that the labor force keeps spurting ahead each year. Thus though industrial America has the greatest percentage of free working people as well as the greatest number, it's almost impossible to keep up with the swift demands for new jobs.

The semi-socialist governments of Britain and Germany can't do it. Nor can the military totalitarianism of the Soviet Union.

There just isn't such an economic phenomenon as constant "full employment." That's podium palaver. This nation is about a close to being fully at work as any country can get.

It should be noted that "jobless" statistics are affected by strikes. Strikers, be they official, such as the 70,000 rubber workers who walked out April 21; or worm diggers who've just settled their disputes, or wildcatters such as the coaldiggers, are counted as unemployed.

All of which feeds the depression cult's spree.

It forgets, for example, that almost 200,000 laid-off autoworkers have been recalled since the oil boycott crisis. And that more autos are being sold than in many a year. And the total auto longtime jobless is now down to 30,000.

What the depression gloomers-and-doomers don't appear to realize is that they're grinding down their own people. America's prosperity today springs from a sober work force's fantastic productivity.

There's been a sudden realization that there's just no more fat -- no more excess money around. And that if you don't produce, if you don't deliver, there aren't any buyers. Or jobs.

Just look at the building and construction trades unionists. There are now only 50 strikes compared with 108 last year in the field.

The crafts shot building expenses up with their featherbedding, their strange work rules and their bitter jurisdictional disputes. Union workers' joblessness flared. Non-union (open shop) employment is spreading. Construction contractors and purchasers simply grew weary of the perpetual bickering and work stoppages. And in some instances, the violence.

Of course, this hasn't prevented the plumbers and steamfitters local from crippling the billion dollars worth of construction on the 100-square-mile Hanford atomic reservation. There has been picketing in the Richland, Wash., area for a month by the Hanford Atomic Metal Trades Council. Thus all this goes into the next statistic on joblessness.

Not a single word here insinuates any lack of deep-hearted empathy for the workless. I know what it means to go hungry, to peddle newspapers and shine shoes. I still come across youngsters, black and white, standing at their shoeshine boxes.

But just because Jerry Ford sees a rose garden in his future because everything is coming up roses economically, there isn't any reason to bad-mouth the nation.

So be a sport. Take a statistic out to lunch. Study it. America is vibrant with prosperity. Especially in those industries with a rebirth of productivity.

Why bad-mouth this nation? There are enough abroad who do it.

P.S. TO THE NEWS

STEALING THE BICENTENNIAL

By PHYLLIS SCHLAFLY
Copley News Service

Almost anyone could have predicted that some unscrupulous peddlers would try to make a fast buck by packaging shoddy merchandise in red-white-and-blue Bicentennial wrappings. What is surprising, however, is the magnitude of the attempt to deceive the public by masquerading under the Bicentennial label, and that those deceived are the better-educated citizens who don't usually buy a gold brick from a slick-talking stranger.

The details are all spelled out in a recent report by the Senate subcommittee on Internal Security about an unofficial organization called the Peoples Bicentennial Commission.

Contrary to its public image as a patriotic educational organization, Peoples Bicentennial Commission is actually "a propaganda and organizing tool of a small group of New Left political extremists whose political heroes include such Marxist luminaries as Fidel Castro, Mao Tse-tung, (and) Che Guevara."

The Peoples Bicentennial Commission has had significant success in the high schools by appealing to student grievances, real or imagined, in order to try to revive the radical student movement of the 1960s.

The PBC materials suggest that ours is an oppressive "Tory society" and that it is the students' duty to overthrow their oppressors.

With such unacceptable goals and tactics, how could the Peoples Bicentennial Commission succeed in getting any of its materials used by thousands of schools and preachers, by 924 radio stations, and by 102 television stations? Because the Peoples Bicentennial Commission did such a good job of packaging its product in patriotic colors.

The Peoples Bicentennial Commission camouflaged its propaganda materials with complimentary references to the Founding Fathers, with quotations from Thomas Jefferson, John Adams and Tom Paine, with artful paraphrasing of the Declaration of Independence, and with a clever use of authentic drawings and engravings from the Colonial era.

One of the Peoples Bicentennial Commission's major projects was to mail cassette recordings and cover letters to 8,000 wives of business executives telling them to cross-examine their husbands about alleged "criminal activity." These cassettes were obviously designed to sow seeds of family discord and to persuade wives that they have a "special responsibility" to argue with their husbands and to inform against them.

The Peoples Bicentennial Commission followed up this troublemaking mailing by sending personal letters to 10,000 secretaries to business executives and to 13,000 journalists offering a cash reward of $25,000 for "information that leads directly to the arrest, prosecution, conviction and imprisonment of a chief executive officer of one of America's Fortune 500 corporations for criminal activity relating to corporate operations."

The New York Times called this a "sophomoric prank." The Senate report proves, however, that this was not just a schoolboy prank, but part of a calculated attack to destroy or weaken our private enterprise system.

The Senate report called this "the attempt to steal the Bicentennial." We can thank the Senate investigators for catching the burglars in the act.

Washington Merry-Go-Round

By Jack Anderson

JACK ANDERSON SAYS:
The Great Phone Hang-Up

WASHINGTON— An epic battle over telephone equipment is raging in the backrooms of Congress. The brouhaha has brought the telephone industry's top brass, led by American Telephone and Telegraph chairman John deButts, to Capitol Hill for some stormy meetings.

At stake is the right of householders to buy their own telephone equipment instead of paying the phone companies. The Federal Communications Commission contends that the freedom to purchase would offer telephone users a better deal. But the companies warn that they would have to raise rates to make up for the revenue loss.

The arguments are complicated, with legal and engineering entanglements. But it all boils down to the question of whether a telephone monopoly or increased competition will provide the customers with better service.

Senators who have been caught up in the controversy say it should be one of the most important debates in congressional history. Here are the behind-the-scenes details:

The FCC has issued a series of complex rulings, which has had the effect of eroding the companies' natural monopoly. The Bell System quietly looked around for someone to sponsor legislation that would nullify the FCC rulings.

Bell bigwigs sounded out Senate Commerce Chairman Warren Magnuson, D.-Wash., and Senate Communications chairman John Pastore, D.-R.I. These two key senators finally consented to meet several of the telephone industry's most high-powered executives, with deButts in command.

Pastore can be as feisty as one of his state's red roosters. In sizzling language, he told the telephone executives that he didn't want their legisfation in his subcommittee. It was "the wrong time and the wrong place," he snapped.

Undeterred, the deButts group finally persuaded amiable Sen. Vance Hartke, D.-Ind., to sponsor the telephone bill. On the House side, Rep. Teno Roncalio, D.-Wyo., agreed to introduce it.

Once the bill was in the legislative works, the Bell System began a massive lobbying campaign. For the first time in its history, AT&T asked all three million of its stockholders to write their congressmen, urging them to vote for the legislation.

Phone company executives were also summoned in from all corners of the country to pay personal calls on their senators and congressmen.

We spoke to several AT&T executives who argued that their customers will lose if competition is forced on the industry. They said the Bell System loses money on every private home phone line but subsidizes the home service by offering specialized equipment. If competitors are permitted to sell this equipment, said the phone men, then the rates will go up.

But the FCC claims competition can only improve the telephone system, citing a New York State study which shows the phone companies would not lose money from competition.

SHELTON'S NEW HOME: Turner Shelton, the discredited former Ambassador to Nicaragua, has finally found a home.

It's a luxurious old villa, complete with gardens and a swimming pool, in romantic Casablanca. The villa is the official residence of the U.S. consul general, a post Shelton will assume next month over loud congressional objections.

He has always seemed to pay more attention to the residence he will occupy than to the post he will fill. Indeed, State Department sources say his requests for assignments are based upon the housing that goes with them.

In Nicaragua, Shelton lived in an enormous mansion, which sat high on a hilltop overlooking the capital city of Managua. The State Department regarded the place, with its huge verandas and 20 sunrooms, as a mausoleum.

The State Department wanted to get rid of it, but it appealed to Shelton. He demanded that it be fixed up, however, before he moved in. So he holed up in a Managua hotel while workmen glassed in the verandas, sealed the windows and air-conditioned the building.

Shelton was called home from Nicaragua after we wrote a series of columns, reporting on his incompetence. He immediately tried to wangle a new appointment as Ambassador to the Bahamas. The ambassadorial residence, it turned out, is one of the most beautiful estates in the country, situated on many rolling acres overlooking the sea.

But both the Senate and the Bahamanian government put the kibosh on this appointment. Shelton next tried to wangle an appointment as consul general to Bermuda. The residence he would have occupied is a virtual island palace, complete with enormous guest quarters. But again the appointment was blocked.

Now it looks as if Shelton is going to make it to Casablanca. But first, he visited the State Department's Office of Foreign Buildings, where top officials spread out photographs and floor plans of the villa he would inherit.

Footnote: Shelton denied to us that he selects his posts because of the accommodations. His review of the photographs at the Foreign Building office, he said, was merely a "routine meeting."

Parolee's wish for obscurity in peril

YORK, Neb. (AP)—Although she has won her freedom after serving 18 years in prison, convicted murderess Caril Ann Fugate's wishes for obscurity in her new life may be threatend by a statement made by the chairman of the Nebraska Parole Board.

The board voted 4-1 Tuesday to grant Miss Fugate's request for freedom. She will be released June 20, apparently bound for a new start somewhere in Michigan.

After the decision, Parole Board Chairman John Greenholtz surprised newsmen by saying Miss Fugate will report to a parole officer in St. Johns, Mich. His statements may have deterred a previously reported play to set Miss Fugate up with a "new identity."

Now 32, Miss Fugate accompanied Charles Starkweather, the red-haired mass killer on his 1958 nation-shocking rampage that left 10 persons dead. Starkweather was the last man executed in Nebraska's electric chair, dying 17 years ago this month.

Miss Fugate said Starkweather coerced her into going with him, but Starkweather told jurors in her trial that Caril, then 14, was a willing accomplice in as many as six of the murders. Among Starkweather's victims were Caril's mother, stepfather and 2-year-old half-sister. She was convicted of first-degree murder in connection with her part in the death of one of the Starkweather victims, Robert Jensen.

Wearing a simple white dress and white shoes, Miss Fugate told the board Tuesday that she has paid her debt to society.

During her prison years, Miss Fugate became a member of the Nazarene Church. She taught Bible classes, babysat for worshipers attending Sunday services and occasionally delivered sermons.

"I do not wish to give interviews today or in the future," said Miss Fugate. "I'd like to just settle down, get married, have a couple kids — you know, dust the house, clean the toilet — you know, just an ordinary little dumpy housewife. That's all I want to be — wash the socks, you know, burn the toast."

About 30 persons attended the hearing, and when the decision was announced, it brought applause.

"I would just like to say thanks," said Miss Fugate before being led quickly from the room with tears in her eyes.

The parole contains a provision prohibiting Miss Fugate from granting interviews or holding news conferences without the written consent of the parole board, a condition she suggested and agreed to before it was announced.

No one showed up to protest the parole.

However, Jensen's mother said, "I don't think that's justice."

"The victims and their families are given no consideration. It's all to make life better for the murderer,"said Mrs. Jensen in a telephone interview.

Greenholtz' comment was the first indication of where Miss Fugate would be going to start anew, and it ignited a controversy over the term "new identity."

Earlier, parole board sources had said Miss Fugate would assume a new identity, and would live in another Midwestern state.

Asked why he said where Miss Fugate will report, Greenholtz answered, "Because you asked."

Jacqueline Crawford, superintendent of the York Women's Reformatory, said she was "disappointed when I was informed of Mr. Greenholtz' statement."

"Michigan suggested that perhaps she (Caril) should change her name," Mrs. Crawford explained. "We discussed that and I discussed it with Caril."

Mrs. Crawford said a name change "is a possibility, but it is something that would be done if incidents make it necessary."

Mrs. Crawford said the earlier references to a new identity were meant in the concept of Miss Fugate not being in prison anymore, not necessarily a name change.

"She has earned her parole . . . society has gotten it's pound of flesh," said Mrs Crawford after the decision was announced.

Miss Fugate said she would like to make a new life working with teen-agers who have problems, but said she expects to find some people who will not accept her. However, she told parole board members that she will be able to cope.

Tuesday's bid for parole was Miss Fugate's first. It began after a 14-year series of appeals to the U.S. Supreme Court which ended in defeat four years ago.

In 1973, the State Pardon Board commuted her life sentence to a 30-to-50 year term, making her elgible for parole this year.

Connie Francis testifies about motel rape incident

NEW YORK (AP) — Singer Connie Francis sobbed uncontrollably as she told the court how the man who raped her in a Howard Johnson's motel room covered her mouth, put a knife to her throat, and said, "Kiss me or I'll kill you."

The attack occurred in 1974 while Miss Francis, 37, was appearing at the Westbury Music Fair, in Westbury, N.Y., on Long Island.

That performance was her first in three years, and she is suing Howard Johnson's Motor Lodge for $5 million, saying the attack shattered her entertainment comeback.

Miss Francis, of Essex Fells, N.J., testified in U.S. District Court in Brooklyn that she was asleep in her room when, suddenly, she discovered there was a man in her room.

"He said, 'Kiss me or I'll kill you'," she testified.

She said she told the man who she was and offered him a tur coat and all the money she had, $100.

Miss Francis was left bound to a chair and buried beneath a mattress and a suitcase, according to her suit. Eventually, she was able to call for help.

After Miss Francis broke down, court was adjourned until today.

Thomas Kirk, attorney for Howard Johnson's, said a strike by United Parcel had delayed delivery of safety locks for the motel doors.

New face, life for teenager

NEW YORK (AP) — Ida Hays stole a glance in the mirror, her first since they took the bandages off, and laughed for joy.

She had made a pact with herself not to look until the swelling went down but she could not resist. After all, what she beheld was not just a 15-year-old girl with a new face but Ida Hays with a new life.

She studied the face: "I like it," and contemplated the life: "Now no one will stare at me, I will be happy."

Ida Hays is the celebrated girl from La Grande, Ore., who underwent a remarkable operation May 19 to repair a face deformed from birth. Interviewed Tuesday for the first time since the surgery, she pronounced the operation an unqualified success.

"Not just for me but for other people," she said. "A boy at the hospital has the same problem I had but was afraid of the operation. Now he's going ahead with it because of me. Isn't that great?"

Ida's problem was that her eyes were separated by twice the normal width. In a 10-hour operation, a team at New York University Hospital reduced the space from slightly more than two inches to slightly less than one, rebuilt Ida's nose, and filled the resulting gap between her eye sockets and temples with bone taken from her hip. It was the most severe case of orbital hypertelorism, as it is called, in the experience of the hospital's Institute of Reconstructive Plastic Surgery.

Ida's deformity was not, of course, her only problem, but it was the cause of all the others.

TOASTY WALNUTS

At this time of year you may have walnuts stored in your freezer that you can use for this recipe.

Add a generous amount of water to the walnut meats (halves and pieces) from a 1-pound see-through bag. Bring to a full boil. Drain in a colander. Rinse with hot tap water. Dry as best you can on lots of paper toweling. Spread over the bottom of a 15-by 10-inch jelly-roll pan. Bake in a 350-degree oven (no need to preheat), stirring several times, until the nuts taste toasted and their color is darker than their original brown — 12 to 24 minutes, depending on how moist they are. Cool. Store, tightly covered, in the refrigerator. Serve cold or at room temperature. (The parboiling does wonders for the nuts.) Makes 4 cups.

Job boost given to handicapped

WASHINGTON (AP) — A little known section of the nation's vocational rehabilitation act promises to give a substantial boost to job prospects for handicapped people, according to Stanley B. Thomas, HEW's Assistant Secretary for Human Development, whose office supervises the vocational rehabilitation program.

"Section 503 of the act requires any company contracting for more than $2,500 a year in business with the federal government to have an affirmative action plan to hire and advance the handicapped," says Thomas. "A conservative estimate by the U.S. Department of Labor places the number of handicapped Americans able to work at 7.2 million, with 1 million contractors doing over $2,500 worth of business with the federal government.

Many employers still believe that hiring the handicapped will cause their insurance rates to rise, Thomas noted. "But the facts are that insurance companies in this country are leaders in rehabilitating and hiring the handicapped, and that insurance rates do not rise when handicapped workers are hired."

Another myth is that there is a higher injury rate among the handicapped than there is among the average nonhandicapped worker, Thomas said. But Department of Labor surveys have shown that "impaired persons" have fewer disabling injuries than the average worker exposed to the same work hazards.

Some handicapped persons have succeeded despite barriers raised by employers' negative attitudes against hiring and promotions, but far more have failed, Thomas said.

New regulations, recently issued by the Department of Labor and designed to implement Section 503, require that government contractors undertake positive recruitment activities, including changing the attitudes toward handicapped emploves by managers, supervisors and all employes.

Recruiting resources such as vocational rehabilitation agencies, state employment services, sheltered workshops and organizations serving handicapped people are to be utilized.

While the Department of Labor is charged with the responsibility for monitoring the law, Thomas pointed out that there are agencies within his Office of Human Development which serve as advocates for the handicapped.

The Rehabilitation Services Administration, Office of Handicapped Individuals, Developmental Disabilities Office, Architectural and Transportation Barriers Compliance Board, and President's Committee on Mental Retardation work with a variety of public and private institutions, organizations, handicapped persons and the public to advocate and create opportunities for rehabilitation.

Progress is being made not only in rehabilitating and training the handicapped for useful roles in society, but also in training industry personnel in the basics of how to interview handicapped job applicants. Thomas noted that, thus far, 79 training seminars and workshops had been held throughout the United States.

A typical example is the Pennsylvania Rehabilitation Center in Johnston, Pa., which held training seminars for personnel specialists from such companies as ALCOA, Bethlehem Steel and Westinghouse during 1975. One of the most important results of these seminars has been improved attitudes about hiring the handicapped on the part of personnel people.

"The combined actions of government, private industry and concerned citizens all point to the time when more handicapped persons will be taking their places in the American work force," Thomas said.

Gambler cashes in on cure

Dear Ann Landers: I am a compulsive gambler and a member of Gamblers Anonymous. I read about this wonderful group in your column eight years ago, went to a meeting and have not gambled a penny's worth since.

Please tell your readers again about Gamblers Anonymous, Ann. It is a unique fellowship of men and women who share their experiences and their strength in an effort to solve a common problem. It costs nothing to join. The only requirement is the desire to quit gambling.

How does one tell if he is a compulsive gambler? Here is a list of 20 questions. Anyone who answers YES to seven or more of these questions has a serious gambling problem.

I hope you will print my letter, Ann. Millions of people need help, and they don't know what to do or where to turn. You can tell them.

1. Do you lose time from work due to gambling?
2. Is gambling making your home life unhappy?
3. Is gambling affecting your reputation?
4. Have you ever felt remorse after gambling?
5. Do you ever gamble in the hope you will win some money so you can pay your debts or solve other financial difficulties?
6. Does gambling keep you out late at night and prevent you from performing efficiently on the job the next day?
7. After losing do you feel you must return as soon as possible and win back your losses?
8. After a win do you have a strong urge to return and win more?
9. Do you often gamble until your last dollar is gone?
10. Do you ever borrow money to finance your gambling?
11. Have you ever sold any personal property to finance gambling?
12. Are you reluctant to use gambling money for normal expenditures?
13. Do you ever lie about your losses?
14. Do you ever gamble longer than you had planned because you just can't stop?
15. Do you ever gamble to take your mind off your problems?
16. Have you ever committed, or considered committing, an illegal act to finance gambling?
17. Does gambling cause you to have difficulty in sleeping?
18. Do arguments, disappointments or frustrations create within you a compulsion to gamble?
19. Do you have an urge to celebrate good fortune by a few hours of gambling?
20. Have you ever considered suicide as a result of your gambling?

I repeat, anyone who answers YES to seven or more questions needs Gamblers Anonymous. Sign me -- Sam G. (Chicago)

Dear Sam G.: May I add a word? Any reader who flunks this test (or is married to someone who flunks it) is invited to write to the National Headquarters of Gamblers Anonymous, P. O. Box 17173, Los Angeles, Calif. 90017, for information on how to join your local chapter.

This group has performed miracles and changed thousands of lives. it has my solid backing. -- Ann Landers

Cooking up

By CHERIE BLANTON

The weather has finally gotten warm and gorgious, so let's sit on the porch, put our feet up and drink one of these divine daiquirig.

STRAWBERRY DAIQUIRI

1 can of frozen lemonade
2 of the lemonade cans full of white rum
1 carton frozen strawberries
2 tbs. sugar (taste, may require a little more)

Pour this in your blender, fill the rest of the way with ice, turn it on and when it gets mushy, pour out and enjoy.

Tried this the other night and found it to be a lot easier than the original recipe, and just about as good.

OVEN BEEF BURGUNDY

2 lb. round beef, cut into 1½ inch cubes, and trim off fat
1 tbs. liquid gravy mix
½ cup of beef bouilon
4 carrots cut into chunks
2 cups thinly sliced onions
1 cup thinly sliced celery
1 clove of garlic, minced
2 tsp. salt
⅛ tsp. pepper, crushed marjoram, and thyme
1 cup dry red wine
1 (6 oz.) can mushrooms, broth too

Place meat in large casserole and toss gently with liquid gravy mix. Add rest of ingredients, cover and bake in a pre-heated 325 degree oven about 2½ hours. Stir meat every 30 minutes.

Here is a new and easy fruit salad that is as catchy as its name.

WATERGATE SALAD

1½ cups miniature marshmallows
1 (20 oz.) can crushed pineapple, include juice
1 box instant pistachio puddin mix
1 large carton non-dairy whipped topping
1 small jar of marschino cherries, drained
1 cup chopped pecans

Mix pudding mix with pineapple, then stir in the rest of the ingredients and refrigerate.

Here's a new strawberry dessert I just recently acquired, and one I think you'll really enjoy.

STRAWBERRY DESSERT

Bake at 350 degrees for 20 minutes, stirring at intervals, then cool.
1 cup flour
½ cup brown sugar
½ cup chopped pecans
1 stick margerine, melted

Press into greased 9x13 inch pan. When done, reserve one third of the crumbs. Now, in a large bowl mix together and beat on mixer until it forms stiff peaks, takes awhile.
2 egg whites
1 cup sugar
2 cups fresh sliced strawberries
1 tbs. lemon juice

When peaked, fold in 2 cups whipped cream, spread over crumbs and sprinkle the reserved over the top and freeze.

'House' Wives Are Regulars At Legislature

By MAUREEN CONNOLLY
Associated Press Writer

AUGUSTA, Maine (AP) — Peg Farnham and Dottie Birt don't vote. But they know more about the legislature, and have attendance records that are better, than some who are elected to serve.

The wives of two Republican state representatives have missed only a handful of days of a recent special session and have sat patiently through hours of debate, party caucuses and public hearings.

They are familiar faces in the back row of the House gallery. Below them, separated by two seats, are their husbands, Roderick E. Farnham of Hampden and Walter A. Birt of East Millinocket.

Mrs. Birt has accompanied her husband to Augusta almost every day for the 14 years he has served in the Legislature, while Mrs. Farnham says she has missed few days during the six years her husband has been in the House.

"You couldn't keep us away," sid Mrs. Birt. "We just love it."

Both women, who spend a considerable amount of their time together in Augusta, are the core of a small group of legislators' wives who accompany their husbands to the State House.

Their number has dwindled over the last several years, and only about six wives now attend the sessions on a regular basis. They are older women who no longer have the responsibility of children. The wives and husbands of younger legislators often stay for short visits.

In the capital, they live in a motel with their husbands throughout the session, traveling home on weekends and holidays.

THE DUCHESS OF GLOVER

By Herbert Kubly (Avon 28705. $1.95 Fiction.)

THE DUCHESS OF GLOVER by National Book Award winner Herbert Kubly is the story of Calysta Glover, who came out of a Minnesota mining town to follow her impulses and her designs to wealth, influence, and pleasure. She was brought up at the turn of-the-century as Katy Hasely, an orphan and outsider. As Calysta Blaine, she traced her heritage and discovered that she was an heiress. Calysta met "Duke" Glover at the age of eighteen and became one of the world's richest women. In THE DUCHESS OF GLOVER Kubly presents a seventy- year panorama of changing social and sexual behavior - and the unchanging nature of love.

Herbert Kubly, a professor of English at the University of Wisconsin won the National Book Award in 1956 for American in Italy. He is the author of seven other books and has contributed to such magazines as Life, Time, Vogue, Atlantic, and Esquire.

The Prayer

"Whatsoever ye do in word or deed, do all in the name of the Lord Jesus, giving thanks to God. (Colossians 3:17)

PRAYER: Keep us, Father, under the control of the Holy Spirit so that our whole lives will be filled with praise to Your glory. For Christ's sake. Amen.

THE DUCHESS OF GLOVER

By Herbert Kubly (Avon 28795. $1.95 Fiction.)

THE DUCHESS OF GLOVER by National Book Award winner Herbert Kubly is the story of Calysta Glover, who came out of a Minnesota mining town to follow her impulses and her designs to wealth, influence, and pleasure. She was brought up at the turn of-the-century as Katy Hasely, an orphan and outsider. As Calysta Blaine, she traced her heritage and discovered that she was an heiress. Calysta met "Duke" Glover at the age of eighteen and became one of the world's richest women. In THE DUCHESS OF GLOVER Kubly presents a seventy- year panorama of changing social and sexual behavior - and the unchanging nature of love.

Herbert Kubly, a professor of English at the University of Wisconsin won the National Book Award in 1956 for American in Italy. He is the author of seven other books and has contributed to such magazines as Life, Time, Vogue, Atlantic, and Esquire.

Pleasant Hill Cemetary holds annual meeting

BELL CITY — The 13th annual meeting of the Pleasant Hill (Tilman) Cemetery Association on May 30 at the cemetery, located halfway between Advance and Bell City on Route 00, was attended by one of the largest crowds ever.

In the absence of the president, Max Bollinger, the vice president, James DeLay, presided.

The meeting opened with the singing of the Association's theme song, "There Is Power in the Blood", which was the song most used, when regular services were held in this church, according to records left in the Church.

Prayer was led by Manley Long of Essex. Minutes of the 1975 meeting were read by the secretary, Mrs. Joe Redman, and the treasurer's reports were given by Mrs. Anna Bidewell for the association and J. W. Foster, for the maintenance committee.

More congregational singing followed with painso accompaniment by Mrs. Kathleen LaGrand of Chaffee.

Mrs. Floyd Cross acted as chairwoman of the nominating committee, nominated the retiring officers, Mrs. Joe Redman, secretary, and Mrs. Anna Bidewell, treasurer, for a one- year term and Mrs. Verda Trout as trustee for a five-year term, and with no nominations from the floor, they were elected.

After the election, Mrs. Bidewell offered her resignation, which was accepted, Mrs. Bidewell then nominated Mrs. Dennis Lorch of Advance, who was elected to succeed her.

Families recognized were the Overbey and Foster families, who are decendants of two pioneer families of the Tilman community, recognized for coming from a distance were Roy Barks of Pontiac, Mich., his son and family, Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Barks and two children of Clarkston, Mich.; Mr. and Mrs. Cleo Overbey of Dearborn, Mich.; Mr. and Mrs. Vane Overbey of St. Charles, Mich.; Guy Parker of Memphis, Tenn.; and Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Bollinger of Piggott, Ark.

Facts on blood pressure
High blood pressure- a controllable killer

COLUMBIA— Identifying and controlling high blood pressure is one of the best ways to reduce your risk of stroke and heart attack.

This is a message hammered home repeatedly by the Missouri Heart Association, which was of special significance in the state and national observance of High Blood Pressure month in May.

"High blood pressure," says Dr. John D. Arnold, president of the Missouri Heart Association, "is a silent killer because there are usually no symptoms. You can have it and still feel healthy. It is a mysterious killer because, in 90 per cent of the cases, doctors don't know the cause. It can easily be detected by an inexpensive and painless medical examination. And once diagnosed, it can usually be controlled."

For those who ignore high blood pressure, the results can be devastating. Consider these statistics:

— High blood pressure is a major factor in 500,000 of the nearly 900,000 deaths in this country each year from stroke and heart attack.

— Of the approximately 23 million Americans who have high blood pressure, at least half don't know it. And half of those who do are not adequately controlled.

— In 1975 alone, heart and blood vessel diseases will kill more than a million Americans - - 52 per cent of deaths from all causes in the U.S.

"Fortunately, you can improve your chances of living a longer, healthier life," assures Dr. Arnold. "But only your doctor can determine your individual risk. Only he can tell you how to reduce it. If you have high blood pressure, only he can prescribe a diet and medication program designed to protect you. And only you can make it successful by following his advice."

Your part is just as important as your physicians's. You can play your part best by doing the following:

1. Ask your doctor to check your pressure, or go to your nearest clinic or health center for a pressure check. You should do this even if you feel well, because high blood pressure may not have any noticeable symptoms.
2. If you have high blood pressure, follow your doctor's instructions about diet -- including weight loss if you are overweight -- and changes in general health habits, such as rest and recreation. These measures will reduce the risk of stroke, heart attack, kidney and heart failure.
3. If your physician prescribes medications, keep taking them whether you feel well or not.
4. Cooperate with your physician. As a team, you and the doctor can almost always get your pressure under control.

Facts on blood pressure
High blood pressure- a controllable killer

COLUMBIA— Identifying and controlling high blood pressure is one of the best ways to reduce your risk of stroke and heart attack.

This is a message hammered home repeatedly by the Missouri Heart Association, which was of special significance in the state and national observance of High Blood Pressure month in May.

"High blood pressure," says Dr. John D. Arnold, president of the Missouri Heart Association, "is a silent killer because there are usually no symptoms. You can have it and still feel healthy. It is a mysterious killer because, in 90 per cent of the cases, doctors don't know the cause. It can easily be detected by an inexpensive and painless medical examination. And once diagnosed, it can usually be controlled."

For those who ignore high blood pressure, the results can be devastating. Consider these statistics:

— High blood pressure is a major factor in 500,000 of the nearly 900,000 deaths in this country each year from stroke and heart attack.

— Of the approximately 23 million Americans who have high blood pressure, at least half don't know it. And half of those who do are not adequately controlled.

— In 1975 alone, heart and blood vessel diseases will kill more than a million Americans - - 52 per cent of deaths from all causes in the U.S.

"Fortunately, you can improve your chances of living a longer, healthier life," assures Dr. Arnold. "But only your doctor can determine your individual risk. Only he can tell you how to reduce it. If you have high blood pressure, only he can prescribe a diet and medication program designed to protect you. And only you can make it successful by following his advice."

Your part is just as important as your physicians's. You can play your part best by doing the following:

1. Ask your doctor to check your pressure, or go to your nearest clinic or health center for a pressure check. You should do this even if you feel well, because high blood pressure may not have any noticeable symptoms.
2. If you have high blood pressure, follow your doctor's instructions about diet -- including weight loss if you are overweight -- and changes in general health habits, such as rest and recreation. These measures will reduce the risk of stroke, heart attack, kidney and heart failure.
3. If your physician prescribes medications, keep taking them whether you feel well or not.
4. Cooperate with your physician. As a team, you and the doctor can almost always get your pressure under control.

St. Louis Municipal Opera announces 1976 schedule

ST. LOUIS — Referring to a repertory consisting of three all-time hit musicals, featuring stars recreating their original Broadway roles, two of the most popular stage productions presented at Muny Opera, a world celebrated dance-musical company, a Broadway-bound musical comedy and a smashing musical attraction to be announced for the close of the season, J. Arthur Baer II, president of the Municipal Theatre Association, announced the 1976 season schedule to be presented at the Muny Opera during its 58th annual summer season.

"With this program," Baer stated, "a unique range of an unmatched repertory is made even more unforgetable with a star-studded lineup of top-name entertainers. Add to this a special series of evenings that will honor our great American composers and artists during our nation's Bicentennial, a truly star-spangled season, eclipsing all previous years, is evident."

Baer pointed out that despite spiraling production and talent costs, the Municipal Theatre Association has decided against increasing ticket prices for the nine weeks of the regular subscription series.

The stars, attractions and dates are:

July 5-11—Zero Mostel in his original Broadway starring role of Tevye in "Fiddler On The Roof", with the National Touring Co. on its way to the Kennedy Center in Washington.

July 12-18—Angela Lansbury in her original Broadway starring role in "Mame".

July 19-25—The Hudson Brothers in "On The Town".

July 26-Aug. 1—"Show Boat".

Aug. 2-8—Yul Brynner in his original Broadway and motion picture starring role in "The King and I".

Aug . 9-15—Vincent Price in "Oliver!"

Aug. 16-22—Special pre-Broadway engagement of David Merrick's new musical comedy, "The Baker's Wife", adapted from the 1943 French film which was written and directed by Marcel Pagnol. The musical production will star Topol.

Aug. 23-29—Hurok's "Russian Festival of Music and Dance".

Aug. 30-Sept. 5—To be announced.

As previously announced, the regular subscription series of nine weeks will be preceded by nine nights of special attractions beginning June 26. Tickets may be purchased by mail for the individual performances on a first-come, first-served basis and current and new season ticket-holders will have first priority.

They are:

June 26--Leonard Bernstein conducting the New York Philharmonic and as piano soloist.

June 27--Andre Kostelanetz directing the New York Philharmonic, with soprano Eileen Farrell and pianist Jerome Lowenthal as soloists.

June 28-30--A jazz show led by trumpeter Al Hirt and clarinetist Pete Fountain and their bands.

July 1 and 2--"Grand Ole Muny Opry", a country and western music show headed by Roy Clark, Gunilla Hutton George "Goober" Lindsey, Minnie Pearl, Charley Pride with Pridesmen and Dave & Suger, Mel Tillis and The Statesiders, Buck Trent and Don Williams.

July 3 and 4--Burt Bacharach and Anthony Newley.

"Fiddler On The Roof", which opened on Broadway in 1964, was the longest running show (play or musical) in Broadway history, reaching 3,242 performances. The book is by Joseph Stein, based on Sholem Aleichem's stories, music by Jerry Bock and lyrics by Sheldon Harnick. The songs include "Tradition", "Matchmaker, Matchmaker", "If I Were A Rich Man", "Sabbath Prayer", "Sunrise, Sunset", "Do You Love Me?" and "Far From The Home I Love". Jerome Robbins directed and choreographed.

Besides "Fiddler", Mostel's Broadway shows were "Ulysses In Nightgown", "Rhonocerous" and "A Funny Thing Happened On The Way To the Forum", "The Producers" and "The Hot Rock".

"Fiddler" was made into a motion picture in 1971. It was previously produced at Muny Opera in 1970 and 1973.

"Mame", which was presented by Muny Opera in 1969 for two weeks was produced on Broadway in 1956 and ran 1,508 performances, with Angela Lansbury starring in the title role for two years. It was based on the Patrick Dennis novel and the play, "Auntie Mame". Jerry Herman wrote the music and lyrics. The book is by Jerome Lawrence and Robert E. Lee.

There had been a movie, "Auntie Mame", starring Rosalind Russell in 1958. Songs include "It's Today", "Open A New Window", "My Best Girl", "Bosom Buddies" and "If He Walked Into My Life".

Miss Lansbury starred in the 1974 season at Muny Opera in "Gypsy". She was born in London, but in 1940, because of the German bombing of that city, was evacuated to the United States where she received theatrical training. In 1942 her family moved from New York to Los Angeles.

The next year, at the age of 17, she made her first film "Gaslight", with Ingrid Bergman and Charles Boyer and received an Academy Award nomination. She received her second Oscar nomination for "The Picture Of Dorian Gray", and made "National Velvet", "The Harvey Girls", "If Winter Comes", "State of The Union", "Samson and Delilah", "The Long Hot Summer", "The Dark At The Top Of The Stairs", "The Three Musketeers", "The Manchurian Candidate" (a third Oscar nomination for her), "Something For Everyone" and "Bedknobs And Broomsticks".

On Broadway, she did "Hotel Paradiso" , "A Touch of Honey" and a musical, "Anyone Can Whistle". She won a Tony Award and the New York Drama Critics Award for "Mame" and a second Tony for "Dear World". In London, she played in the Royal Shakespearean Company's production of Edward Albee's "All Over" and, in 1973, was voted best actress of the London season by the critics for her work in "Gypsy".

"On The Town" was presented only once before by Muny Opera in 1958. It was originally produced on Broadway in 1944 for a run of 465 performances. Leonard Bernstein composed the score, and the book and lyrics were written by Betty Comden and Adolph Green, who also were in the cast. Jerome Robbins did the choreography. Some of the songs are "New York, New York", "I Can Cook Too," "Lucky To Be Me" and "Lonely Town".

The Hudson Brothers were starred last year at Muny Opera in "The Wizard Of Oz". The trio, Bill, Mark and Brett, started out as a supporting act for The Supremes, The Fifth Dimension, The Who, Herman's Hermits and Glen Campbell. In 1974, they had a summer replacement show on CBS, a series of five one-hour specials. The act, called "a cross between the Beatles and the Marx Brothers", also did The Hudson Brothers' Razzle-Dazzle Show on Saturday morning television.

"Snow Boat" has been given more performances by Muny Opera than any other show--it was presented nine times for a total of 14 weeks from 1930 through 1968. The classic was first produced on Broadway in 1927 by Florenz Ziegfeld and ran 572 performances, a long run for that time.

Its score is by Jerome Kern and the book and lyrics by Oscar Hammerstein II, adapted from the novel by Edna Ferber. Its songs include "Why Do I Love You?", "Can't Help Lovin' Dat Man", "Only Make Believe", "Ol' Man River", "You Are Love" and "Bill". The cast will be announced shortly.

This will be Muny Opera's sixth production of "The King And I". It was first done at the Forest Park theater in 1956 and the last time in 1971.

It was produced on Broadway in 1951 and ran 1,246 performances. The music is by Richard Rodgers and the lyrics and book by Oscar Hammerstein II, based on the novel, "Anna And The King Of Siam", by Margaret Landon, which was filmed as a non-musical in 1946. The songs include "I Whistle A Happy Tune", "Hello, Young Lovers", "Something Wonderful", "I Have Dreamed" and "Shall We Dance?"

Yul Brynner played the role of the King on Broadway and on tour opposite Gertrude Lawrence and in the 1956 film version opposite Deborah Kerr. He was born on Sakhalin Island north of Japan and at the age of 13 started singing in Paris night clubs with a gypsy group. He then joined a circus as a trapeze artist and played in a repertory theater in Paris.

He made his Broadway debut in "Twelfth Night" and then played in "Lute Song" with Mary Martin and "Dark Eyes". For his performance in "The King And I", he received the Donaldson, Tony and Critics Circle awards. He also received an Oscar for his film portrayal of the king.

His many films include "The Ten Commandments", "Anastasia", "Solomon And Sheba", "Once More With Feeling", "The Magnificent Seven", "Kings Of The Sun", "Taras Bulba", "Code Name Morituri", "Invitation To A Gunfighter", "The Madwoman Of Chaillot", "Fuzz" and "Westworld". He also did "Anna And The King Of Siam" on television.

"Oliver!" was previously presented by Muny Opera in 1970. First produced in London where it ran 774 performances, then on Broadway, its book, lyrics and music are by Lionel Bart, based on the Dickens novel, "Oliver Twist". The songs include the title number, "Food, Glorious Food", "I Shall Scream", "Boy For Sale", "Consider Yourself", "You've Got To Pick A Pocket Or Two", "It's A Fine Life", "As Long As She Needs Me" and "Who Will Buy?".

Vincent Price, who will play Fagin, was born in St. Louis, lived on Forsyth Boulevard opposite Washington University and was educated at Yale and the Universities of London and Nuremberg. On Broadway, he played Prince Albert opposite Helen Hayes in "Victoria Regina".

Petitions on annexation to council

SCOTT CITY — Petitions containing approximately 300 signatures of people in sympathy with landowners against proposed annexation of three parcels of land into the city limits were presented to the City Council Monday night by the landowners' attorney.

The annexation proposal calls for bringing two parcels of land to the north and one to the south into Scott City. The attorney told the council his clients, 20 of whom were present, had a multitude of reasons for not wanting to be taken into the city.

He said the people have already paid additional costs to have water lines run to their properties, that they have their own sewage system, and that they do not wish the increased tax burden of living within the city limits.

A question posed to the council about its specific reasons for wanting to annex the land brought a reply that the city needs additional land for orderly growth.

The attorney said his clients do not believe the city is structurally organized to take care of extra fire and police protection, and that sewer expansion to outlying areas would be prohibitively expensive.

Bill Proffer, chairman of the Planning and Zoning commission, recommended the council reconsider boundaries. It was this body that originally recommended further city annexation. Proffer commented that the city should take care of what it has now.

Council members pointed out to people present that they are now being furnished fire and police protection, city water and use of city streets leading to their property and that it is their turn to share some of the cost now borne by those residents inside the city limits.

Although council members agreed with the landowners' attorney that it might be many years before there arose a pressing need for more land to accommodate industrial, commercial and residential needs, it was pointed out by City Attorney Tom Arnold that if recent zoning efforts of Cape Girardeau are successful, it will bring that city's zoning ordinances to within one quarter mile of the city limits here.

Hays wins renomination to 15th term in Congress

ST. CLAIRSVILLE, Ohio (AP) — Rep. Wayne Hays, facing a showdown with House colleagues over a payroll-sex scandal, has won renomination to a 15th term in Congress.

The 65-year-old Democrat won Tuesday's Democratic primary over Nick Karnick, a 56-year-old Steubenville court bailiff making his fifth run at Hays.

Karnick's best previous showing against the incumbent was 20 per cent, but with 64 per cent of the vote counted, the challenger had 43 per cent of the total — Hays 20,175, Karnick 14,925.

Hays will face Republican Ralph R. McCoy of Woodsfield and William Crabbe, Steubenville's mayor and an independent, in the general election.

Hays retired early to his farm, telling reporters initial returns were gratifying "according to the circumstances and the pressure I have been under."

He planned to return to Washington today to join the House in action on key legislation which forced him to postpone until next week a decision on whether to step down temporarily as chairman of the House Administration Committee. He previously stepped aside as chairman of the House Congressional Campaign Committee which hands out funds to candidates.

He is under investigation by the U.S. Justice Department, a federal grand jury and the House Ethics Committee. They are examining allegations of misuse of federal funds.

Elizabeth Ray, a 33-year-old former member of Hays' staff, has charged he put her on the payroll as his mistress.

Hays has admitted a "personal relationship" with her but denied the allegation of misuse of federal money.

Hays fared poorly as a favorite son presidential candidate in the six congressional districts among Ohio's 23 where he was on the ballot. He did not get a single delegate.

The mantelet was a moveable shelter to protect men attacking a fortified place. The British engineer Moncrieff used prefabricated mantelets in the 1776 Charleston expedition against the Americans. They were 6 feet high, 14 feet long, stood on 3 feet, and took 18 men to carry. When put into place, the World Almanac Recalls, mantelets formed the inner walls of a battery or redoubt.

people and we'll stick together.

Presidential press secretary Ron Nessen described Ford as pleased with the results, "especially his victories in Ohio and New Jersey." Like Reagan on Ohio, Nessen had no direct comment from Ford to relay on the California results.

These were the figures on the final primaries:

California

With 19 per cent of the precincts counted:

Reagan 282,817 or 61 per cent.

Ford 180,364 or 39 per cent.

Reagan got all 167 delegates under the winner-take-all system.

Brown 378,442 or 58 per cent and 200 delegates.

Carter 130,296 or 20 per cent and 70 delegates.

Church 60,201 or 9 per cent and six delegates.

Udall 35,292 or 5 per cent and four delegates.

The rest of the vote was scattered among five other entries.

In delegates, Brown was ahead for 200, Carter for 70, Church for 6, Udall for 4.

Hays wins renomination to 15th term in Congress

ST. CLAIRSVILLE, Ohio (AP) — Rep. Wayne Hays, facing a showdown with House colleagues over a payroll-sex scandal, has won renomination to a 15th term in Congress.

The 65-year-old Democrat won Tuesday's Democratic primary over Nick Karnick, a 56-year-old Steubenville court bailiff making his fifth run at Hays.

Karnick's best previous showing against the incumbent was 20 per cent, but with 64 per cent of the vote counted, the challenger had 43 per cent of the total — Hays 20,175, Karnick 14,925.

Hays will face Republican Ralph R. McCoy of Woodsfield and William Crabbe, Steubenville's mayor and an independent, in the general election.

Hays retired early to his farm, telling reporters initial returns were gratifying "according to the circumstances and the pressure I have been under."

He planned to return to Washington today to join the House in action on key legislation which forced him to postpone until next week a decision on whether to step down temporarily as chairman of the House Administration Committee. He previously stepped aside as chairman of the House Congressional Campaign Committee which hands out funds to candidates.

He is under investigation by the U.S. Justice Department, a federal grand jury and the House Ethics Committee. They are examining allegations of misuse of federal funds.

Elizabeth Ray, a 33-year-old former member of Hays' staff, has charged he put her on the payroll as his mistress.

Hays has admitted a "personal relationship" with her but denied the allegation of misuse of federal money.

Hays fared poorly as a favorite son presidential candidate in the six congressional districts among Ohio's 23 where he was on the ballot. He did not get a single delegate.

The mantelet was a moveable shelter to protect men attacking a fortified place. The British engineer Moncrieff used prefabricated mantelets in the 1776 Charleston expedition against the Americans. They were 6 feet high, 14 feet long, stood on 3 feet, and took 18 men to carry. When put into place, the World Almanac Recalls, mantelets formed the inner walls of a battery or redoubt.

Astros win

Dierker silences Cards bats

HOUSTON (AP) — The Houston Astros may be thinking about making June 8 "Larry Dierker Day."

Dierker, in what may have been one of the best all-around efforts of his 13-year career, blanked the St. Louis Cardinals on five hits and scored both runs in a 2-0 victory Tuesday night.

"This was my day," said Dierker, now 6-5. "I don't think I can pitch any better.

"They've (the Cardinals) been struggling but for a righthanded pitcher I don't think there is a harder lineup in the league."

The veteran Astros pitcher encountered little trouble from St. Louis batters as he struck out nine and walked only three in notching his 100th career complete game.

"I really had exceptional control," Dierker said. "I really don't think that there's anybody around who can pitch with better control than I did tonight."

Dierker recorded his 23rd career shutout and the Astros pitching staff's third whitewash in their last six games. The Astros broke a scoreless tie with an unearned run in the sixth inning off loser Bob Forsch, 1-2.

Dierker was safe at first on an error by St. Louis shortstop Don Kessinger and moved to second on a sacrifice by Greg Gross.

With two outs, Cesar Cedeno was intentionally walked but Bob Watson crossed up the Cardinal strategy by delivering an RBI single off Forsch to score Dierker.

"It got the adrenalin pumping," said Watson of the St. Louis plan. "But I can't blame Red (St. Louis manager Red Schoendienst). It was a good move."

Houston added another run in the eighth off reliever Bill Grief on a single by Dierker, another sacrifice by Gross and a pair of errors by Cardinals third baseman Hector Cruz.

The victory was Houston's 10th in its last 13 games.

Eckles fires no-hitter in SLL

A no-hitter by Henry Eckles of Collins Construction in the Musial League highlighted Tuesday night's Sikeston Little League play. There was a full schedule in all three leagues.

MUSIAL LEAGUE

Henry Eckles fired a no-hitter and went 5-for-5 at the plate as Collins defeated Bank of Sikeston 29-0 and Malone and Hyde got past Hart's Bread 5-1 in the Musial League Tuesday night.

Allen Morris suffered the loss for Bank of Sikeston as Collins scored 29 runs on only 13 hits.

Collins began to make the noise in the second inning as they ripped the Bank of Sikeston pitcher for 10 runs. While Eckles was holding his opponents in check from the mound Collins made two more explosions with nine runs in the fifth and 10 more in the sixth.

Shawn Williams was 4-for-4 at the plate for Collins.

Malone and Hyde backed the pitching of Michael Cook to score single runs in the first, second, third, fourth and sixth to win the game. Hart's lone run came in the fourth frame. Cook limited Hart's to a single hit. Malone and Hyde banged out five safeties against losing hurtler Scott Carmody. Harper was the only player for the winners to get two hits. Carmody collected the only hit for Hart's.

AMERICAN LEAGUE

Ryan Construction whalloped Righter 12-2 and Fabick trounced Ziegenhorn 23-5 in American League action Tuesday night.

John Stewart picked up the victory on the mound for Ryan and Fair took the loss. Stewart limited his opponents to only six hits while his teammates banged out 21 safeties.

Ryan was the first to score crossing the plate five times in the second fram. Righter came back in the third to score two but couldn't stop the onslaught by Ryan as they added two in the fourth and three in the sixth.

Ryan had five players collect three hits apiece. Van Pool was the only Righter player with two hits in the game.

Fabick used a 22- hit attack to subdue Ziegenhorn. Sherman belted out four hits in five times at bat for the winners. Stinnett was the winning pitcher and Holden took the loss.

After a scoreless first frame things begin to happen in the second as Fabick scored six times. Ziegenhorn came back to score four runs. After Fabick took a 9-5 lead with three runs in the third they came back in the fifth to cross the plate nine times and added five more in the sixth.

NATIONAL LEAGUE

In National League play Tuesday night Legion and the Jaycees staged a slugfest with Legion coming out on top 20-10. The Lions defeated Lewis Furniture 6-3.

John Watkins Jr. gave up only three hits while picking up the win for Legion. Mark Statler suffered the loss while giving up 11 hits.

The Jaycees jumped on top in the first inning 4-2 but Statler and his teammates couldn't hold on as Legion exploded for eight big runs in the third frame and added eight more in the fifth. The Jaycees battled back to score four in the fourth inning but Watkins shut down the uprising. Ferrell was 3-for-3 to lead Legion in batting.

Marlin O'Neal defeated Tim Evens as the Lions edged Lewis Furniture. O'Neal gave up seven hits. Evans allowed only two safeties in obsorbing the loss.

The Lions took a 2-0 lead after the first inning and added four more in the second and their defense did the rest. Lewis scored single runs in the second, third and fourth frames.

Kenny Davis was the only hitter for Lewis to get two hits. Gary Grojean and Chris Helms had the hits for Lions.

Oerter wants to throw disc in Olympics again

NEW YORK (AP) — At age 39 and out of competition for eight years, big Al Oerter is getting that Olympic fever again.

"There is something about the Olympics that gets in one's blood," the towering, muscled discus thrower said. "The assembling of all those people of various nationalities, all with the same purpose. The crowds, the training, the competition, the pressure.

"There is an idealism about it that makes it seem like another world. I know it sounds dumb, maybe it is dumb, but I can really get charged up in the Olympics.

"I have decided to go for my fifth gold medal in Moscow in 1980."

Oerter will be an "old man" of 43 when the Games go behind the Iron Curtain four years from now. The idea sounds ludicrous. But nobody—particularly any of his competitors—dares scoff.

Oerter was an underdog in 1956 in Melbourne, Australia, when as a strapping 20-year-old collagian out of the University of Kansas he upset world record-holder Fortune Gordien to win the discus with a record toss No one thought he could do it when he won again in 1960 at Rome, 1964 at Tokyo and 1968 at Mexico City.

At Mexico City, Oerter was competing against a younger teammate, Jay Silvester, fresh from a world record toss of 225 feet, four inches. Silvester was jumpy as a worm on a hot skillet. "I'm afraid of the old man," he kept confiding to teammates.

On one of his early throws, Oerter unleashed a heave of 212 feet, 6½ inches—five feet farther than he had ever thrown the discus in his life—and dared Silvester and the rest of the world's strong men to beat it. None did.

"I don't know why, but something special always happens to me in the Olympics," Oerter said. "Now I hope it will happen one more time."

In winning at Mexico City, Oerter established himself as the all-time "Iron Man" of the Games, the only athlete in history to win gold medals in the same event in four consecutive Olympics.

"He's all heart and guts," Payton Jordan, the 1968 U. S. track and field coach, said at the time.

A communications engineer and father of two teenaged daughters—Christiana, 17, and Gabriel, 14—Oerter works with heartless computers for a major airplane manufacturer and lives the life of a country gentleman on a pleasant, tree-lined street in West Islip, N.Y.

He has maintained his athletic figure by boating, playing tennis, running several miles every day and, of late, reinstituting his muscle-building program through weight-lifting exercises at the local gym and working outdoors at State University in nearby Farmingdale.

"I hadn't picked up a discus in eight years," Oerter explained. "The wood was flaking in the old ones I had stashed away and I had to order some new ones.

"People keep asking why, if I wanted to go after a fifth gold medal, I didn't do it at Munich or this year at Montreal. I will tell you. After Mexico City, I felt pressure and I simply didn't have any interest. The same attitude carried over to the period leading to this year's Games.

"I am funny. I have to feel an urge, a spark of interest. That spark has come back just in the past few months. I am serious about my plans for a comeback."

One of his first tasks is to build up his weight, then start refining his techniques. He never has had a personal coach. "I am just a big, strong dude who can throw things a far ways," he says.

He currently weighs 245 pounds, 10 above what he weighed in his debut in 1956 but well below his size in succeeding Games—250, 260 and at Mexico City a massive 295. He stands 6 feet, 3 inches tall.

"I intend to put on a few more pounds," he explained. "I have mapped out a program for myself. This year I will compete in two or three small meets in the East.

Astros win

Dierker silences Cards bats

HOUSTON (AP) — The Houston Astros may be thinking about making June 8 "Larry Dierker Day."

Dierker, in what may have been one of the best all-around efforts of his 13-year career, blanked the St. Louis Cardinals on five hits and scored both runs in a 2-0 victory Tuesday night.

"This was my day," said Dierker, now 6-5. "I don't think I can pitch any better.

"They've (the Cardinals) been struggling but for a righthanded pitcher I don't think there is a harder lineup in the league."

The veteran Astros pitcher encountered little trouble from St. Louis batters as he struck out nine and walked only three in notching his 100th career complete game.

"I really had exceptional control," Dierker said. "I really don't think that there's anybody around who can pitch with better control than I did tonight."

Dierker recorded his 23rd career shutout and the Astros pitching staff's third whitewash in their last six games. The Astros broke a scoreless tie with an unearned run in the sixth inning off loser Bob Forsch, 1-2.

Dierker was safe at first on an error by St. Louis shortstop Don Kessinger and moved to second on a sacrifice by Greg Gross.

With two outs, Cesar Cedeno was intentionally walked but Bob Watson crossed up the Cardinal strategy by delivering an RBI single off Forsch to score Dierker.

"It got the adrenalin pumping," said Watson of the St. Louis plan. "But I can't blame Red (St. Louis manager Red Schoendienst). It was a good move."

Houston added another run in the eighth off reliever Bill Grief on a single by Dierker, another sacrifice by Gross and a pair of errors by Cardinals third baseman Hector Cruz.

The victory was Houston's 10th in its last 13 games.

Eckles fires no-hitter in SLL

A no-hitter by Henry Eckles of Collins Construction in the Musial League highlighted Tuesday night's Sikeston Little League play. There was a full schedule in all three leagues.

MUSIAL LEAGUE

Henry Eckles fired a no-hitter and went 5-for-5 at the plate as Collins defeated Bank of Sikeston 29-0 and Malone and Hyde got past Hart's Bread 5-1 in the Musial League Tuesday night.

Allen Morris suffered the loss for Bank of Sikeston as Collins scored 29 runs on only 13 hits.

Collins began to make the noise in the second inning as they ripped the Bank of Sikeston pitcher for 10 runs. While Eckles was holding his opponents in check from the mound Collins made two more explosions with nine runs in the fifth and 10 more in the sixth.

Shawn Williams was 4-for-4 at the plate for Collins.

Malone and Hyde backed the pitching of Michael Cook to score single runs in the first, second, third, fourth and sixth to win the game. Hart's lone run came in the fourth frame. Cook limited Hart's to a single hit. Malone and Hyde banged out five safeties against losing hurtler Scott Carmody. Harper was the only player for the winners to get two hits. Carmody collected the only hit for Hart's.

AMERICAN LEAGUE

Ryan Construction whalloped Righter 12-2 and Fabick trounced Ziegenhorn 23-5 in American League action Tuesday night.

John Stewart picked up the victory on the mound for Ryan and Fair took the loss. Stewart limited his opponents to only six hits while his teammates banged out 21 safeties.

Ryan was the first to score crossing the plate five times in the second fram. Righter came back in the third to score two but couldn't stop the onslaught by Ryan as they added two in the fourth and three in the sixth.

Ryan had five players collect three hits apiece. Van Pool was the only Righter player with two hits in the game.

Fabick used a 22- hit attack to subdue Ziegenhorn. Sherman belted out four hits in five times at bat for the winners. Stinnett was the winning pitcher and Holden took the loss.

After a scoreless first frame things begin to happen in the second as Fabick scored six times. Ziegenhorn came back to score four runs. After Fabick took a 9-5 lead with three runs in the third they came back in the fifth to cross the plate nine times and added five more in the sixth.

NATIONAL LEAGUE

In National League play Tuesday night Legion and the Jaycees staged a slugfest with Legion coming out on top 20-10. The Lions defeated Lewis Furniture 6-3.

John Watkins Jr. gave up only three hits while picking up the win for Legion. Mark Statler suffered the loss while giving up 11 hits.

The Jaycees jumped on top in the first inning 4-2 but Statler and his teammates couldn't hold on as Legion exploded for eight big runs in the third frame and added eight more in the fifth. The Jaycees battled back to score four in the fourth inning but Watkins shut down the uprising. Ferrell was 3-for-3 to lead Legion in batting.

Marlin O'Neal defeated Tim Evens as the Lions edged Lewis Furniture. O'Neal gave up seven hits. Evans allowed only two safeties in obsorbing the loss.

The Lions took a 2-0 lead after the first inning and added four more in the second and their defense did the rest. Lewis scored single runs in the second, third and fourth frames.

Kenny Davis was the only hitter for Lewis to get two hits. Gary Grojean and Chris Helms had the hits for Lions.

Oerter wants to throw disc in Olympics again

NEW YORK (AP) — At age 39 and out of competition for eight years, big Al Oerter is getting that Olympic fever again.

"There is something about the Olympics that gets in one's blood," the towering, muscled discus thrower said. "The assembling of all those people of various nationalities, all with the same purpose. The crowds, the training, the competition, the pressure.

"There is an idealism about it that makes it seem like another world. I know it sounds dumb, maybe it is dumb, but I can really get charged up in the Olympics.

"I have decided to go for my fifth gold medal in Moscow in 1980."

Oerter will be an "old man" of 43 when the Games go behind the Iron Curtain four years from now. The idea sounds ludicrous. But nobody—particularly any of his competitors—dares scoff.

Oerter was an underdog in 1956 in Melbourne, Australia, when as a strapping 20-year-old collagian out of the University of Kansas he upset world record-holder Fortune Gordien to win the discus with a record toss No one thought he could do it when he won again in 1960 at Rome, 1964 at Tokyo and 1968 at Mexico City.

At Mexico City, Oerter was competing against a younger teammate, Jay Silvester, fresh from a world record toss of 225 feet, four inches. Silvester was jumpy as a worm on a hot skillet. "I'm afraid of the old man," he kept confiding to teammates.

On one of his early throws, Oerter unleashed a heave of 212 feet, 6½ inches—five feet farther than he had ever thrown the discus in his life—and dared Silvester and the rest of the world's strong men to beat it. None did.

"I don't know why, but something special always happens to me in the Olympics," Oerter said. "Now I hope it will happen one more time."

In winning at Mexico City, Oerter established himself as the all-time "Iron Man" of the Games, the only athlete in history to win gold medals in the same event in four consecutive Olympics.

"He's all heart and guts," Payton Jordan, the 1968 U. S. track and field coach, said at the time.

A communications engineer and father of two teenaged daughters—Christiana, 17, and Gabriel, 14—Oerter works with heartless computers for a major airplane manufacturer and lives the life of a country gentleman on a pleasant, tree-lined street in West Islip, N.Y.

He has maintained his athletic figure by boating, playing tennis, running several miles every day and, of late, reinstituting his muscle-building program through weight-lifting exercises at the local gym and working outdoors at State University in nearby Farmingdale.

"I hadn't picked up a discus in eight years," Oerter explained. "The wood was flaking in the old ones I had stashed away and I had to order some new ones.

"People keep asking why, if I wanted to go after a fifth gold medal, I didn't do it at Munich or this year at Montreal. I will tell you. After Mexico City, I felt pressure and I simply didn't have any interest. The same attitude carried over to the period leading to this year's Games.

"I am funny. I have to feel an urge, a spark of interest. That spark has come back just in the past few months. I am serious about my plans for a comeback."

One of his first tasks is to build up his weight, then start refining his techniques. He never has had a personal coach. "I am just a big, strong dude who can throw things a far ways," he says.

He currently weighs 245 pounds, 10 above what he weighed in his debut in 1956 but well below his size in succeeding Games—250, 260 and at Mexico City a massive 295. He stands 6 feet, 3 inches tall.

"I intend to put on a few more pounds," he explained. "I have mapped out a program for myself. This year I will compete in two or three small meets in the East.

MONTREAL (AP) — The International Hockey League announced Tuesday that it has signed its sixth annual agreement with the National Hockey League which will enable NHL teams to place players with IHL clubs for development.

In other developments at the IHL's annual meeting, Morris G. Snider, general manager of the Port Huron Flags, was selected executive of the year and the league announced its 1977 all-star game will be played in Flint, Mich., Jan. 18.

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Vince Chickerella, Capital University's basketball coach for eight years, is also assuming the Ohio Conference school's athletic directorship.

Chickerella replaces Dr. John F. "Fritz" Plinke, who will retain his post as chairman of Capital's health and physical education department.

SAN DIEGO (AP) — The San Diego Chargers of the National Football League have signed standout Alabama linebacker Woodrow Lowe.

Lowe, 6-foot, 220 pounds, signed with the Chargers Tuesday for undisclosed terms.

During his college career, Lowe played Cotton, Orange and Senior bowls, as well as two Sugar Bowl games. He was an All-Southeastern Conference selection as a junior and a senior at Alabama.

VANCOUVER (AP) — The British Columbia Lions of the Canadian Football League announced Tuesday they had signed two import running backs, both named Holmes.

SMGA grows in membership and activity each summer

The Sikeston Mens Golf Association's 1976 membership is the largest in the association's history, and, if the turnout for the first two events on the calendar this year is any indication, this year's group may also be the most active ever.

Well over 80 duffers were on hand May 13 for the first tournament of the season, a four-man scramble affair which was played in the rain. And over 100 turned out that weekend for the handicapper, a 36-hole tournament held to determine a member's handicap to be used in tournament play.

Those figures are impressive, especially when compared to the total membership of 125 this year. President Hugh McCollum, who has been secretary-treasurer the past two years, says that there is a potential for about 30 more memberships before the season is out.

The beginnings of the Sikeston Men's Golf Association were humble. There was a small group of golfers who formed the original association in the early 1960's, but that club died out because of a lack of activity and interest among the members.

Then, about twelve years ago, the present association was born, with about sixty paid members. That membership has grown steadily each year since.

Tharon Stallings, who has long been active not only in the SMGA but also the SeMo Seniors Golf association, credited an increase in interest in golf for the rise in membership. McCollum, who has been a member for about seven years, gave credit to an increase in Sikeston Country Club membership. The 125 members this year represents about 35 per cent of the club's members. "Of course, there are a lot of members who don't have time to play in the tournaments, and there are others who just don't play golf." Other officers this year are Tony LeGrand, vice president, and Gary Stallings, secretary-treasurer.

The next event on the 1976 schedule is a scramble tournament Thursday evening beginning at 5:00. Scrambles are also scheduled for June 24, July 15, August 5 and September 9. There is also a handicap tournament set for August 21-22. A season-ending banquet is scheduled for after the September 9 tournament.

Rockets choose Lucas first in NBA draft; inks contract

NEW YORK (AP) — Can John Lucas find happiness on both the basketball and tennis courts?

He's going to try.

Lucas, a college All-American in both tennis and basketball, was the No. 1 pick in Tuesday's National Basketball Association draft, by the Houston Rockets.

After quickly signing a five-year, no-cut contract for a reported $850,000 with the Rockets, the 6-foot-4 Lucas said he also was negotiating with a franchise in World Team Tennis and probably would sign with a WTT member — which he did not identify — next week.

"Eye-hand coordination is the most important factor in both sports," said Lucas, who reached the third round of the recent NCAA tennis tournament at Corpus Christi, Tex. "The footwork in tennis also helps me as a guard in basketball.

"But right now, my primary concern is playing basketball," added Lucas, who averaged 18.3 points a game in four years as a starter at Maryland.

The Rockets, operating under new Coach Tom Nissalke, acquired the No. 1 draft on Monday by trading center Joe Meriweather, guard Gus Bailey and their first-round pick to Atlanta for center Dwight Jones and the Hawks' top choice.

The Rockets and the other teams, meanwhile, chose 175 other players in the 10-round draft which lasted 2 hours, 5 minutes.

Four of them were from Indiana's national champions. All-American forward Scott May, the College Player of the Year, was the No. 2 pick, by the Chicago Bulls. Two others, guards Quinn Buckner and Bobby Wilkerson, also were drafted on the first round. Buckner, like May a member of the U.S. Olympic team, was selected by the Milwaukee Bucks, and Wilkerson went to the Seattle SuperSonics.

Indiana forward Tom Abernethy was chosen on the third round, by the Los Angeles Lakers.

The only starting member of Indiana's NCAA winners to avoid the draft was All-American center Kent Benson, a junior.

The other 1976 Associated Press All-Americans, forwards Adrian Dantley of Notre Dame and Phil Sellers of Rutgers, were high picks in the draft. Dantley, a junior who decided to pass up his last year of college eligibility for the pros, was taken by the Buffalo Braves in the first round. Sellers went to the Detroit Pistons in the third round.

In addition to May, Buckner and Dantley, were chosen.

Baseball draft resumes

NEW YORK (AP) — The Atlanta Braves, winners of the Andy Messersmith free agency sweepstakes earlier this year, get to take the lid off today's secondary phase of the baseball draft and they've narrowed their choice to a pair of speedy Californians.

It will be either Gerald Price, an 18-year-old infielder with fast feet and a quick bat, or 19-year-old Ron Roenicke, a switch-hitting center fielder, who will lead off the draft for previously selected but unsigned players.

Both Price and Roenicke were selected before by Detroit but went back into the hopper because the figures the Tigers offered to sign were too small.

Price, whose brother Mike was selected by the St. Louis Cardinals in 1970 but got cut from their minor league system in 1972, is a freshman at Diablo Valley Junior College in Pleasant Hills, Calif. This season, Price, a second baseman, batted .400 and knocked in 24 runs in 24 games.

Roenicke, whose brother Gary was promoted from the minors to the Montreal Expos this week, is a sophomore at Mt. San Antonio Junior College in Walnut, Calif. This season, he hit .356, setting a team record with 10 triples.

Houston apparently has whispered acceptable figures to prime prospect Floyd Bannister of Arizona State, who was selected by the Astros Tuesday as the No. 1 pick in the regular phase of the free agent draft.

The Astros had said they would not draft Bannister if they felt they could not sign him. But Tuesday they drafted him, and a Houston spokesman said, "We do expect to sign him."

The Astros said they would not approach Bannister about signing a contract until Arizona State finishes competing in the College World Series in Omaha, Neb. The Sun Devils, 62-8 this season, are the No. 1-ranked team in the country and they face rival Arizona Saturday night in their opening game of the double elimination tournament.

Twice an All-American, Bannister has blazed his way to a 37-5 record in three varsity seasons at Arizona State. Employing three effective pitches, Bannister — who will be 21 Thursday when the draft is scheduled to end — has led the nation in strikeouts the past two years.

Bannister's teammate, Ken Landreaux, the sixth player chosen, was selected by the California Angels. A center fielder, he batted .413 with 14home runs and 87 RBI this season.

The 24 major league clubs spent most of Tuesday attempting to fix their pitching staffs. On the first round alone, 14 pitchers were taken, including Pat Underwood, who was chosen by the Tigers, who had the second pick of the draft. Underwood's brother, Tom, pitches for the Philadelphia Phillies.

Future of Scouts and of Bobby Orr in doubt

MONTREAL (AP) — The National Hockey League's Kansas City franchise, still scouting for a group that would lead it out of a financial wasteland, has received its final deadline to find new ownership or halt operations.

Although the league did not set a date for a transfer to take place, and didn't take any definite steps to terminate the franchise, NHL President Clarence Campbell asserted Tuesday that the Scouts don't "have much time to maneuver."

The words had a familiar sound. Pending doom for Kansas City had been preached for months not only by the league but also by the team's own ledgers. More than $5 million in debt and as yet unable to find new money, the two-year-old club is just 23 days from insolvency and suspension.

The first order of business was the re-election of Campbell as head of the league whose leadership he took in 1946. Although the white-haired president has made clear his intention to retire, a search committee empaneled in January to find his successor has not yet managed to agree on a candidate. Thus Campbell will remain in office until at least the middle of the season, as a league spokesman said the search committee "hopes to make a report by or near the end of 1976."

The California Seals will have decided their plans by then, either relocating in Denver or — possibly — in Cleveland, or remaining in their present Oakland Alameda Coliseum home until a new arena is built in San Jose, Calif. Seals owner Mel Swig had admitted considering each of those prospects after being thwarted in efforts to build an arena in downtown San Francisco.

Also in doubt was the status of free agent defenseman Bobby Orr, who may well face a sixth operation on his ravaged left knee. The operation, should it take place, "may preclude him from ever playing hockey again,' says Orr's attorney, Alan Eagleson.

The 28-year-old Orr, the first rearguard to lead the NHL in scoring, was to enter a Toronto hospital today for tests that will determine if the surgery will be needed. Meanwhile, the Chicago Black Hawks and Boston Bruins wait to see if his career can continue and his expected signing with Chicago can take place.

All-time great goaltender Johnny Bower and defenseman Hubert "Bill" Quackenbush were among the five men enshrined in the Hockey Hall of Fame. Bower played on four Stanley Cup champion teams during the 1950s and '60s while Quackenbush, who played for the Detroit Red Wings and Bruins during the late 1940s, once played 131 consecutive games without drawing a penalty. Installed as "builders" of the game were William W. Wirtz, current president of the Black Hawks, John L. Gibson, recognized as the organizer of the world's first pro hockey league in 1903, and Philip D. Rose, the original trustee of the Stanley Cup.

Elks, Jim Moore are victorious

In Senior Babe Ruth action Tuesday night Elks defeated Security Bank and Trust 7-3 and Jim Moore shutout Security National 11-0.

Jim Moore bounced back from a loss Monday night to defeat their opponent. Some of the Security National players were absent because of a game schedule for the Scott County Legion team which they are a member of.

Greer fired a one-hitter at Security National. Mike Dewitt was the losing pitcher.

Jim Moore jumped on Dewitt for seven runs in the top of the second inning and coasted to the victory behind Greer.

Allen Davidson was the only player for Moore to get two hits. Cloud collected the only hit for Security.

Elks took a 3-0 lead over Security Bank and Trust after the first three innings and coasted to the victory. MacMurray suffered the loss and Dumas was the winning pitcher.

Juaken Dumas held Security Bank to only three hits while his teammates were collecting seven off MacMurray. No player on either team had more than one hit.

Elliot-Newton wins close one from Eagles

Elliot-Newton and Davis & Bird recorded victories in Junior Babe Ruth play at the complex Tuesday night. Elliot-Newton won a 3-1 pitcher's duel over the Eagles, while Davis & Bird outslugged Bank of Sikeston 11-10.

Jimmy Alford's two-run single in the bottom of fifth lifted Elliot-Newton to their victory. Terry Lambert outpitched Ed Wasson on the mound, allowing only one hit, a third-inning base knock by Danny Smith. Wasson gave up but four safeties, but was the victim of four errors.

In the nightcap, Davis and Bird struck for six runs in the second and tallied four more times in the fifth as they won a wild one from Bank of Sikeston.

A double by Marty Nelson capped the second-inning rally, while Russell Deal's triple highlighted the sixth-inning uprising. Jeff Schwab got credit for the victory, while Derek Braden was the loser.

Food Mart loses 1st SFPSL game

Steward Steel blasted previously undefeated Food Mart 13-0 and Eagles edged Eby's 7-4 in the Sikeston Fastpitch Softball League here Thuesday night.

Rick O'Donald handed Food Mart their first loss with a one-hitter. John Vines singled in the second frame. Wayne Lovette suffered the loss.

Steward Steel bombed Lovette for four runs in the first inning as Jim Sweet hit a three-run homer. Gary Adams hit a homer in the fourth.

John Chesser was the winning pitcher for Eagles and Jim Hill was the loser. The big blow for the Eagles was a three run homer by Terry Comstock in the fifth. Eby's scored all four of their runs in the fourth. Kenny Lape clouted a four-bagger in the frame.

Wednesday night the 76's take on Security National Bank at 7:30.

MONTREAL (AP) — The International Hockey League announced Tuesday that it has signed its sixth annual agreement with the National Hockey League which will enable NHL teams to place players with IHL clubs for development.

In other developments at the IHL's annual meeting, Morris G. Snider, general manager of the Port Huron Flags, was selected executive of the year and the league announced its 1977 all-star game will be played in Flint, Mich., Jan. 18.

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Vince Chickerella, Capital University's basketball coach for eight years, is also assuming the Ohio Conference school's athletic directorship.

Chickerella replaces Dr. John F. "Fritz" Plinke, who will retain his post as chairman of Capital's health and physical education department.

SAN DIEGO (AP) — The San Diego Chargers of the National Football League have signed standout Alabama linebacker Woodrow Lowe.

Lowe, 6-foot, 220 pounds, signed with the Chargers Tuesday for undisclosed terms.

During his college career, Lowe played Cotton, Orange and Senior bowls, as well as two Sugar Bowl games. He was an All-Southeastern Conference selection as a junior and a senior at Alabama.

VANCOUVER (AP) — The British Columbia Lions of the Canadian Football League announced Tuesday they had signed two import running backs, both named Holmes.

SMGA grows in membership and activity each summer

The Sikeston Mens Golf Association's 1976 membership is the largest in the association's history, and, if the turnout for the first two events on the calendar this year is any indication, this year's group may also be the most active ever.

Well over 80 duffers were on hand May 13 for the first tournament of the season, a four-man scramble affair which was played in the rain. And over 100 turned out that weekend for the handicapper, a 36-hole tournament held to determine a member's handicap to be used in tournament play.

Those figures are impressive, especially when compared to the total membership of 125 this year. President Hugh McCollum, who has been secretary-treasurer the past two years, says that there is a potential for about 30 more memberships before the season is out.

The beginnings of the Sikeston Men's Golf Association were humble. There was a small group of golfers who formed the original association in the early 1960's, but that club died out because of a lack of activity and interest among the members.

Then, about twelve years ago, the present association was born, with about sixty paid members. That membership has grown steadily each year since.

Tharon Stallings, who has long been active not only in the SMGA but also the SeMo Seniors Golf association, credited an increase in interest in golf for the rise in membership. McCollum, who has been a member for about seven years, gave credit to an increase in Sikeston Country Club membership. The 125 members this year represents about 35 per cent of the club's members. "Of course, there are a lot of members who don't have time to play in the tournaments, and there are others who just don't play golf." Other officers this year are Tony LeGrand, vice president, and Gary Stallings, secretary- treasurer.

The next event on the 1976 schedule is a scramble tournament Thursday evening beginning at 5:00. Scrambles are also scheduled for June 24, July 15, August 5 and September 9. There is also a handicap tournament set for August 21-22. A season- ending banquet is scheduled for after the September 9 tournament.

Rockets choose Lucas first in NBA draft; inks contract

NEW YORK (AP) — Can John Lucas find happiness on both the basketball and tennis courts?

He's going to try.

Lucas, a college All-American in both tennis and basketball, was the No. 1 pick in Tuesday's National Basketball Association draft, by the Houston Rockets.

After quickly signing a five-year, no-cut contract for a reported $850,000 with the Rockets, the 6-foot-4 Lucas said he also was negotiating with a franchise in World Team Tennis and probably would sign with a WTT member — which he did not identify — next week.

"Eye-hand coordination is the most important factor in both sports," said Lucas, who reached the third round of the recent NCAA tennis tournament at Corpus Christi, Tex. "The footwork in tennis also helps me as a guard in basketball.

"But right now, my primary concern is playing basketball," added Lucas, who averaged 18.3 points a game in four years as a starter at Maryland.

The Rockets, operating under new Coach Tom Nissalke, acquired the No. 1 draft on Monday by trading center Joe Meriweather, guard Gus Bailey and their first-round pick to Atlanta for center Dwight Jones and the Hawks' top choice.

The Rockets and the other teams, meanwhile, chose 175 other players in the 10-round draft which lasted 2 hours, 5 minutes.

Four of them were from Indiana's national champions. All-American forward Scott May, the College Player of the Year, was the No. 2 pick, by the Chicago Bulls. Two others, guards Quinn Buckner and Bobby Wilkerson, also were drafted on the first round. Buckner, like May a member of the U.S. Olympic team, was selected by the Milwaukee Bucks, and Wilkerson went to the Seattle SuperSonics.

Indiana forward Tom Abernethy was chosen on the third round, by the Los Angeles Lakers.

The only starting member of Indiana's NCAA winners to avoid the draft was All-American center Kent Benson, a junior.

The other 1976 Associated Press All-Americans, forwards Adrian Dantley of Notre Dame and Phil Sellers of Rutgers, were high picks in the draft. Dantley, a junior who decided to pass up his last year of college eligibility for the pros, was taken by the Buffalo Braves in the first round. Sellers went to the Detroit Pistons in the third round.

In addition to May, Buckner and Dantley, were chosen.

The first order of business was the re-election of Campbell as head of the league whose leadership he took in 1946. Although the white-haired president has made clear his intention to retire, a search committee empaneled in January to find his successor has not yet managed to agree on a candidate. Thus Campbell will remain in office until at least the middle of the season, as a league spokesman said the search committee "hopes to make a report by or near the end of 1976."

The California Seals will have decided their plans by then, either relocating in Denver or — possibly — in Cleveland, or remaining in their present Oakland Alameda Coliseum home until a new arena is built in San Jose, Calif. Seals owner Mel Swig had admitted considering each of those prospects after being thwarted in efforts to build an arena in downtown San Francisco.

Also in doubt was the status of free agent defenseman Bobby Orr, who may well face a sixth operation on his ravaged left knee. The operation, should it take place, "may preclude him from ever playing hockey again,' says Orr's attorney, Alan Eagleson.

The 28-year-old Orr, the first rearguard to lead the NHL in scoring, was to enter a Toronto hospital today for tests that will determine if the surgery will be needed. Meanwhile, the Chicago Black Hawks and Boston Bruins wait to see if his career can continue and his expected signing with Chicago can take place.

All-time great goaltender Johnny Bower and defenseman Hubert "Bill" Quackenbush were among the five men enshrined in the Hockey Hall of Fame. Bower played on four Stanley Cup champion teams during the 1950s and '60s while Quackenbush, who played for the Detroit Red Wings and Bruins during the late 1940s, once played 131 consecutive games without drawing a penalty. Installed as "builders" of the game were William W. Wirtz, current president of the Black Hawks, John L. Gibson, recognized as the organizer of the world's first pro hockey league in 1903, and Philip D. Rose, the original trustee of the Stanley Cup.

Baseball draft resumes

NEW YORK (AP) — The Atlanta Braves, winners of the Andy Messersmith free agency sweepstakes earlier this year, get to take the lid off today's secondary phase of the baseball draft and they've narrowed their choice to a pair of speedy Californians.

It will be either Gerald Price, an 18-year-old infielder with fast feet and a quick bat, or 19-year-old Ron Roenicke, a switch-hitting center fielder, who will lead off the draft for previously selected but unsigned players.

Both Price and Roenicke were selected before by Detroit but went back into the hopper because the figures the Tigers offered to sign were too small.

Price, whose brother Mike was selected by the St. Louis Cardinals in 1970 but got cut from their minor league system in 1972, is a freshman at Diablo Valley Junior College in Pleasant Hills, Calif. This season, Price, a second baseman, batted .400 and knocked in 24 runs in 24 games.

Roenicke, whose brother Gary was promoted from the minors to the Montreal Expos this week, is a sophomore at Mt. San Antonio Junior College in Walnut, Calif. This season, he hit .356, setting a team record with 10 triples.

Houston apparently has whispered acceptable figures to prime prospect Floyd Bannister of Arizona State, who was selected by the Astros Tuesday as the No. 1 pick in the regular phase of the free agent draft.

The Astros had said they would not draft Bannister if they felt they could not sign him. But Tuesday they drafted him, and a Houston spokesman said, "We do expect to sign him."

The Astros said they would not approach Bannister about signing a contract until Arizona State finishes competing in the College World Series in Omaha, Neb. The Sun Devils, 62-8 this season, are the No. 1-ranked team in the country and they face rival Arizona Saturday night in their opening game of the double elimination tournament.

Twice an All-American, Bannister has blazed his way to a 37-5 record in three varsity seasons at Arizona State. Employing three effective pitches, Bannister — who will be 21 Thursday when the draft is scheduled to end — has led the nation in strikeouts the past two years.

Bannister's teammate, Ken Landreaux, the sixth player chosen, was selected by the California Angels. A center fielder, he batted .413 with 14home runs and 87 RBI this season.

The 24 major league clubs spent most of Tuesday attempting to fix their pitching staffs. On the first round alone, 14 pitchers were taken, including Pat Underwood, who was chosen by the Tigers, who had the second pick of the draft. Underwood's brother, Tom, pitches for the Philadelphia Phillies.

Members of the S.P.O.T. patrol, from left, Paul Backer, Jim Sponik, Bub Falcetti and Gene Terry, lash a Chippewa table together to provide enough room for patrol members to dine at a training session held last weekend for scouts and leaders of the southeast Missouri area.

Scouters learn program helps

SILVA — A training session by the Southeast Missouri Boy Scout Council was held last weekend at Camp Lewallen, the council's camping facility located near here.

The session was held for scoutmasters, assistant scoutmasters, committee members and leaders throughout the southeast Missouri area.

Earl Stratton of Cape Girardeau, commissioner of the Shawnee District, was in charge of the activities, which consisted of how to care for food without an ice chest; how to build a solar water plant; the use of a watch as a compass; how to judge height and distance; knots and lashings; types of fire-building for warmth, cooking and fellowship; backpacking; ecology; use of ax; safety; and cooking.

The S.P.O.T. patrol from the Three Rivers District in the St. Louis Area Council provided a two-day learning experience in living the patrol method.

The S.P.O.T. patrol was formed last September from district commissioners and committee staff for the express purpose of promoting patrol spirit through example.

The first exposure of the S.P.O.T. patrol was to the Three Rivers District at the Sho-te-ca (short term encampment) in the fall of 1975.

The exact definition of the patrol name S.P.O.T. has never been explained.

There have been many guesses, ranging from "Super Patrol of Training" to "Stupid Patrol, Obviously Turkeys", but the meaning will remain the property of the patrol members: Jim Sponik of St. Louis, Jerry Womble of High Ridge, "Doc" Dougherty of Village of Jefferson and Paul Backer, Bub Falcetti, Gene Terry, Tony Braun and Frank J. Steiniger of Arnold.

Tom T. Hall to appear at Kentuck Territory

BENTON, Ky. — Audiences visiting Kaintuck Territory here Sunday can look forward to a special tribute to the Bicentennial by Tom T. Hall's American Country Music Review in the Spirit of '76!

One of Nashville's greats of the day, Tom T. Hall is becoming a living legend in contemporary and country music.

His recording successes have been No. 1 chart action for "I Love", "Country Is" and "Sneaky Snake", with best selling Phonogram- Mercury LP's, and his "Songs of Fox Hollow" LP that promises to be a classic!

When people talk about Tom T. Hall, they refer to him as a storyteller, a songwriter, a philosopher and a genius with words. He is also called a new breed of country singer.

He wrote the noninstrumental score for the movie, "Bonnie and Clyde", received the Grammy Award for writing "Harper Valley P.T.A." and was named Songwriter of the Year in 1972.

Most of Hall's songs are about personal experiences, "I ran way from home when I was 15," he said. "Well, I really didn't run away ... I just left."

He has worked as a country disc jockey, a gravedigger and a laborer for several industries. But, Hall didn't like the work or the life. "You do the same thing every weekend," he said. "It's sort of an artificial existence... The security blanket routine. Industrial security is a form of slavery."

Hall said he became a disc jockey at 15 and worked for several stations until he was 21. Then he joined the Army.

"I finished high school in the Army," he said, "because it dawned on me there were a lot of words I couldn't spell."

Freshmen orientation is planned

CAPE GIRARDEAU — The ninth annual summer orientation program for new students at Southeast Missouri State University will run from June 15 to July 23, Associate Dean of Students Mark Richardson has announced.

The program brings both beginning freshmen and transfer students -- and their parents -- to the campus for a day and a half. During that period both students and parents become acquainted with some members of the faculty and administrative staff and are introduced to the university's activities, facilities and policies.

In addition, the new students pre-enroll and leave the campus knowing what their fall class schedule will be.

"In general, we want the students to become familiar with the university so that when they arrive in the fall they are not in an unknown environment," Dean Richardson said.

Each participant in the summer orientation completes an evaluation questionnaire at the end of his brief visit to the campus. Dean Richardson said analyses of these evaluations from past years indicate the program is effective and is accomplishing its goals.

"Three extremely important events take place during the orientation involvement," he said.

"First, the new student and his or her parents get a good look at the university facilities. This, in itself, aids greatly in the student getting a 'feel' for his college experience.

"Second, the students, by meeting with their course advisor and going through the pre-enrollment process, know what classes they will be involved in and thereby achieve some level of academic awareness.

"Third, they become faciliar with the ideas and ideals of other students who have been at the university and who are willing to share a vast amount of information with the new student."

Dean Richardson is responsible for the overall operation of the orientation program. Susan Crust, Ron Orman, Larry Holst, Jimm Berry, Nancy Hodge and Shelton "Butch" Smith, members of the university's housing staff, handle the day-to-day details.

A number of students are also employed to carry out the program, including five "student leaders." Student leaders for this summer are Patty Edwards of Cooter, Jim McCausland of Beardstown, Ill., Peggy Gaffney of Farmington, Dinah Weiler of Ste. Genevieve and Janet Davis of 606 Maple St., Sikeston. Other students involved include Cindi Phillips of New Madrid, Dan Wimberly of Elm Grove, La., and Sandy Dahlin of Tampa, Fla.
